MRS. ROSIER ACQUITTED OF CHARGE OF MURDER

PHILADELPHIA, November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Back home with her year-old baby after nine months in the county prison, and passing through the ordeal of a long murder trial, Mrs. Catherine Rosier, who late yesterday was acquitted of the charges of killing her husband and his stenographer, was happy today but worn out.

"It is just like waking out of a bad dream to find myself at home again," said the 22-year-old widow today.

Mrs. Rosier's acquittal came after the jury had been out of the court room about an hour and 45 minutes. After her acquittal of killing Mildred Geraldine Beckitt, the 20-year-old stenographer, the commonwealth decided it was impossible to convict Mrs. Rosier on the charge of slaying her husband and at the request of District Attorney Samuel P. Holtan, the court submitted the indictment to the jury with instruction to return a verdict of not guilty.

It is expected by friends of Mrs. Rosier that she will contest the will left by her husband, leaving his entire estate, estimated at $60,000, to his eleven-year-old son, Oscar Jr., by a former wife, and Arthur Rosier, brother of the dead man. The will was written on a leaf torn from a memorandum book while Rosier lay on his death bed in a hospital the day of the shooting.

Scores Rescued From Flames

CHICAGO, November 4.—(By the United Press)—One woman was burned to death and more than forty injured when fire completely destroyed the McClelland apartments here today. More than 200 residents of the building were driven to the streets in their night clothes. Police-men carried scores of women and children to safety down the fire escapes. Fire department authorities declared the fire was of incendiary origin. This is the fourth fire in three weeks in the same building and the twenty-fifth fire in two weeks in this neighborhood, police declared. The apartment is located in the heart of the "Black Belt" and was occupied by whites. Shortly after the McClelland fire, another alarm was turned in for a fire in The Vallensty apartment, also occupied by whites, and located a few blocks from the McClelland. About twenty-five people were driven to the streets. None was injured.

Diva's Success

A tremendous success was scored in Berlin by Eleanor W. Sawyer, American prima donna, when she appeared as Tosca at the Berlin State Opera House. Thirteen curtain calls were taken by Miss Sawyer who is the first American to appear in the former Royal Opera since the war.

Lloyd George Returned To Parliament Automatically

LONDON, November 4.—(By the United Press)—Lloyd George was considered automatically re-elected to the house of commons when together with some seventy others, he was unopposed among the 1,400 members for the general election. Nominations closed at noon with the conservatives leading by a vast plurality in the number of candidates for parliament. Bonar Law and Lloyd George both made speeches as the nominations were closing. Although it had been reported that Lloyd George in a last minute switch would fight many hitherto conceded conservative constituencies the former premier's name was unopposed by a non-conservative and he will return to parliament automatically.

Tacoma, Island Queen, Chris Green, Morning Star In Spectacular Fire

CINCINNATI, O., November 4.—(By the United Press)—Four steamers and two wharf boats were burned in the Ohio river harbor here today. The Island Queen and The Morning Star, Coney Island amusement park vessels went up in flames at their docks. Fanned by a sharp breeze, the fire spread to the steamboat Tacoma which was soon destroyed. There were no passengers on the boats when the fire started. Members of the crews are thought to have escaped. A ten blow alarm took all fire fighting apparatus from the central portion of the city to the river front. The Chris Green pulled from the wharf by the steamer Fred Hall, and burned in midstream, while thousands of spectators, drawn to the river bank, looked on. All available fire apparatus was rushed to the levee when the alarm was sounded. Streams of water were poured on the flames from fire engines lined up on the bank. No more spectacular fire ever has been witnessed in Cincinnati. Wharfmen said the fire started on The Morning Star. The Island Queen and The Morning Star are valued at $200,000.

CINCINNATI, O., November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Three Ohio river steamers, the Island Queen and Morning Star, owned by the Coney Island Company, which operates a summer resort 12 miles above Cincinnati, and the Tacoma, a passenger and freight steamer, and two wharf boats, the property of the Coney Island Company and Green Line Company, were destroyed by fire today. A fourth boat, the Chris Green, employed in tow-boat service, caught fire and was badly damaged. The total loss was estimated at between $250,000 and $300,000.

The boats were moored at the wharves when the fire started, and the flames swept them so rapidly that all efforts to save the property were futile. Other boats had to be hurried away from the vicinity to save them.

Neither the Island Queen nor The Morning Star was under steam at the time. Firemen say that a barrel of tar, used in making repairs on The Morning Star, boiled over and caused the fire.

Mine Marcher Is Acquitted

STERRENSVILLE, O., November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—John Kaminski, 19, Avella, Pa., was acquitted by a jury in the circuit court at Wellsburg, W. Va., at 9:30 o'clock this morning on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the mine war July 17 at Cliftonville, W. Va., in which Sheriff H. S. Duval and six miners were slain.

MCREADY AND KELLY MAKE NEW RECORD

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., November 4.—(By the United Press)—The attempted non-stop transcontinental flight from San Diego, Cal., to New York, ended here today when engine trouble forced Lieutenants John Macready and Oakley Kelly to land at Ft. Benjamin Harrison after covering 2,650 miles. This established a new world's record for long distance non-stop flying. The two fliers previously established an endurance flying record October 6, by staying in the air 35 hours, 18 1-2 minutes. On being forced down here the cross-country trip was abandoned.

Macready and Kelly borrowed a plane from the fort and proceeded to McCook's field, Dayton, Ohio, their headquarters.

"Engine trouble," muttered Lieutenant Kelly, as he climbed stiffly from the fuselage. "Tough luck."

Both Macready and Kelly were beamed by cold and by sitting in cramped positions while they attempted to blaze the air trail from the Pacific to the Atlantic sea board.

"We encountered head winds all the way," Macready stated. "Last night they were particularly bad. It was a great deal colder than we anticipated, but we did not suffer much but our engine burned out because we had to fight the head winds which made extraordinary pull on them."

WASHINGTON, November 4.—(By the United Press)—Lieutenant John A. Macready, chief pilot of the T-2, which broke the world's distance flight record in a daring attempted continental non-stop flight, now stands out as the army's premier aviator. The youthful Macready holds three world's records, duration and distance flight. Macready broke the official record for altitude when, equipped with electrical heaters and special oxygen tanks, he climbed over six and a half miles in the air to an altitude of 35,500 feet at Dayton, Ohio. He set a new record for duration flight on October 5 and 6 when he and Lieutenant Kelly remained in the air near San Diego for 35 hours and 18 1-2 minutes.

"VERDICT" IN "HARDING'S TRIAL" WILL BE RETURNED IN OHIO TUESDAY

Four Perish By Fire

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The fourth victim of the fire which yesterday afternoon destroyed an East Thirtieth street cellaholm factory died early today. She was Miss Frances Aragon, who was trapped with eleven other young women on the third floor of the burning building. Two women fell to their death during the fire, and a third died last night in a hospital.

Four others were still in the hospital in a serious condition today and another was convalescing at her home. Three escaped unhurt.

To Introduce Alienists' Testimony

LOS ANGELES, CAL., November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Attorneys for Mrs. Clara Phillips, charged with the murder of Mrs. Alberta Tremaine Meadows, who was beaten to death with a hammer, were busy today preparing for the introduction Monday of testimony of alienists in spite of the insanity defense. No session of the trial was held today.

Bertram Herrington, chief defense attorney, announced that with the exception of the alienist's testimony, his case was completed, and that he expected to rest some time Monday.

PLAY TH' GAME—KEEPING YOURSELF PRETTY NEVER WON YOU ANY THING!

COLUMBUS, O., November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—One of the hardest fought political struggles in its history peaked an end today in President Harding's home state of Ohio, where both Republicans and Democrats agree that the president's administration is on trial and that the result of next Tuesday's election will have an important bearing on the national elections two years hence.

Practically all of the members of President Harding's cabinet have spoken in Ohio during the campaign in behalf of the Republican ticket. Few outside Democrats have campaigned in this state.

Congressman Simon D. Fess, former chairman of the Republican national congressional committee, is opposing Senator Alice Pomeroy for re-election to the senate and Carol A. Thompson, Republican of Cleveland, and former treasurer of the United States, is opposing A. Victor Donahoe, former state auditor and a Democrat, for governor.

Both the Republicans and Democrats are claiming victory next Tuesday. The Democrats point out that all newspaper polls indicate a decided Democratic victory. The Democrats also claim the election of eight or more Ohio congressmen. The Ohio delegation of 22 is now solidly Republican.

Intense interest also is being shown in the fate of the proposed amendment to the Ohio constitution legalizing the manufacture and sale in Ohio of wine and beer. Both wets and dries are claiming victory. Should the amendment be adopted, dries claim that Ohio's endorsement laws would be invalidated, although beer and wine could not be sold because of the Volstead act.

Sailor Held For Theft

TOLEDO, O., November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—John McCarthy, 31, sailor of New York City, believed by police to be implicated in the theft of $500 worth of merchandise in the union station railroad yards in the last three days, was arrested by police and American Express Company detectives Saturday at 5:30 a. m.

Police say they found several pawn shop tickets in his possession. Investigation showed, police say, he had pawned four pairs of new shoes, which were part of a shipment of a dozen pairs stolen this week. Two pairs of the shoes were found in the pawn shop and identified by police.

McCarthy is held on suspicion.

Favor Fair Trial For The Anglo Irish Treaty

LEEDS, ENGLAND, November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Prime Minister Bonar Law addressing an audience of 3,000 persons here today said the view of the whole of the treaty be given a fair trial.

"Those who are carrying on the government in Ireland may think," he said, "that the new government and the party that supports the new government is hostile in its heart. It isn't."

Coxey Closes Campaign In Jefferson County

STERRENSVILLE, O., November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—General Jacob S. Coxey, of Coxey's army fame, non-partisan candidate for congress, 18th district will close his intensive campaign in this city this week-end, concluding with a mass meeting at the Jefferson county court house Monday night.

BABY JUGUAR ON BOTTLE
CINCINNATI.—General Manager Sol Stephen of the Cincinnati Zoological Gardens is nursing a baby jaguar with a bottle, until a mother dog, with young puppies can be found. The mother jaguar is of such a fierce nature that it was considered dangerous to place his offspring with it for fear she would kill the pup.

VETS OPEN DRIVE FOR $250,000
CINCINNATI.—A campaign to raise $250,000 to erect a permanent home for the Disabled Veterans of the world war, and Cincinnati council of the American Legion, has been launched. The drive will continue until Nov. 10th. It is planned to purchase downtown quarters for the Legion, and the Disabled Veterans will have their quarters on one of the seven hills surrounding the city.

River Men Want Artificial Wave
CINCINNATI.—Cincinnati could men, who depend upon the Ohio river to bring down coal from West Virginia mines, are beseeching the government engineers' office to create an artificial wave that will release 80 barres, 40,000 tons, that are stranded upstream.

Baboon Hunt In New York

NEW YORK, November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—A big baboon thought to have escaped from a rum running ship is being sought in the vicinity of Balgonie on Long Island. Half a dozen persons have seen the animal, and one, William Ellinger, was knocked down by it during an encounter several days ago.

Young Ellinger, son of the caretaker on the estate of Mrs. W. E. Hawkins, came suddenly upon the baboon as he was walking along the banks of a creek looking after muskrat traps. The boy shouted to frighten the animal, but instead it made for him and knocked him down. The great ape had started to tear the lad's clothing when his German police dog rushed up only to be knocked back by a sweep of the baboon's long arm. The dog returned to the attack and after a brief encounter, the ape fled.

The searching parties were formed after the boy had reported the incident to his father. Some hunters saw it climb from the third story window of an abandoned house and lower itself to the ground by the lightning rod. It happened so quickly that none of the hunters were able to fire.

Agents of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, are helping in the search.

Sultan To Abdicate

CONSTANTINOPLE, November 4.—(By the United Press)—Mehmed VI, Sultan of Turkey, held a council at his palace here today preparatory to announcing his abdication. In view of the decision of the Ankara government, abolishing the Sultanate, it was reported that Mehmed would make an announcement immediately. Some of the Sultan's advisors urged him to fight the nationalist device. The delegation which Mustapha Kemal is sending to Lusane for a conference with the allies on near east affairs departed today for Switzerland by way of Smyrna. Flags of the new state of Turkey, now virtually a republic, were flown in all cities and there was generally rejoicing at the action of the general assembly.

Revolt Breaks Out In Island

PARIS, November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—An insurrection has broken out on the Island of Samos off the Smyrna coast of Asia Minor, according to advices received here, the rebels demanding an autonomous government for the island. Greek troops have been called out to suppress the outbreak.

MISS MARY MCSWINEY ARRESTED IN RAID

DUBLIN, November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Miss Mary MacSwiney was among several persons arrested in the home of Mrs. Humphries in Aylesbury Road here after a pitched battle between the occupants and National Army troops who were presumably seeking to arrest Eamon DeValera reported to be hiding in this city. The search failed to reveal the Republican leader.

DeValera is believed to have escaped from the house last night. Commandant General Ernest O'Malley, one of the most active of the Republican leaders, was dangerously wounded and arrested. Madame O'Malley, whose husband was killed in the 1916 insurrection, was wounded. Shield Humphries daughter of the owner of the house, and niece of O'Malley, was slightly wounded. She was arrested.

ONE KILLED, SCORE HURT

BREIMON, TEXAS, November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—One was killed and a score of persons injured when a north bound Houston and Texas Central train crashed into a Waco-Bremon train at this place at 4:00 o'clock this morning. The engine ploughed into a sleeper near the end of the waiting train.

C. W. Willette, 1133 Broadway, New York City, was killed. The express ran into an open switch, it was stated, and crashed into the rear sleeper of the local train.

Worst Ice In History Of Far North

VANCOUVER, B. C., November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The slaying of two mounted policemen and the worst ice in the memory of inhabitants of the far north, are reported by the Hudson's Bay Company steamer Lady Klondike, just back from a tour of the company's station on the Arctic ocean.

Delay Action In Mills Case Until After Election

NEW BRITAIN, N. J., Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Action will be delayed in the Hall-Mills murder case until after the election next Tuesday, according to reports today. Then it will be presented to the grand jury. Only a few witnesses will be used before the grand jury, although Deputy Attorney General Mott has a much more complete case prepared for trial.

Working at a secret place, Mr. Mott is said to have persuaded several persons, reported to have knowledge of the crime, to talk, thus ironing out weak links in the case—witness story of Mrs. Jane Gibson, "Shocks," they have been talking about arrests for the last four weeks," commented James Mills, husband of Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, chair leader, who was slain with the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, today when told of the latest reports. "Why don't they do something? I don't believe they will ever do anything about this crime."

Ministers Arrested After Near Fight

The Ashland Independent Friday said: A physical encounter on the street here today between Rev. T. Howard Jones of Youngstown, O., formerly pastor of the First M. E. church here and the Rev. E. R. Overly, new pastor of the First M. E. church here, in both men's being hailed before the police court.

The near-fistic engagement occurred at 7:30 at Twelfth street and Winchester avenue in front of the office of Dr. William DeBord, a member of the First M. E. congregation.

It came as the result of a telephone conversation last night between the two men in which they could not agree regarding the policy maintained by Overly with his congregation.

The encounter was reported to Bishop Anderson of Covington, in charge of this district, immediately. Jones today received a message from the bishop requesting him to leave Ashland and to return to his pastorate at Youngstown.

"You are a dirty lying skunk," and "if you come to Ashland looking for a scrap, you certainly have found a scrapper," were remarks passed by Overly during the engagement, he told The Independent.

Pastor Overly was waiting at Twelfth street early today to meet Jones face to face following the telephone conversation last night. When he saw him and Dr. DeBord coming down the street in the latter's car, he hailed him. Jones and DeBord stopped in front of the latter's office. Overly asked why Jones had talked "in such a manner" over the phone. He says that Jones denied having told anyone that Overly had told him to stay away from prayer meeting last night.

"You are a dirty lying skunk," said Overly with the remark, grabbed Jones by the neck and pulled him from the car. Before Overly could strike him, DeBord fell between them and Jones ran into the office and called the police. Both men were arrested on charges of breach of the peace.

The Rev. Mr. Jones arrived in Ashland Monday to appear in court in answer to a suit brought by A. Kitchin, grocerman, on two church bonds (the latter held).

Pastor Overly has been in Ashland only a few weeks. He replaced the Rev. Mr. J. H. Butler as pastor of the First M. E. church. He came here from Newport where he won a reputation as a fighter against vice and gambling and was one of the men taking a leading part in the recent municipal fight there.

To Preach At Swauger Valley School House

Rev. T. E. McCoy, evangelist, of Ironton, Ohio, will preach at the Swauger Valley school house this evening and will also conduct services at the same place tomorrow morning and tomorrow night. Everyone is invited to "come and hear the good old time religion preached in the good old-fashioned way."

Word War Give s Way To Action

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—The war of words in the Western Conference was made a side-issue for a few hours today while plunging backs and charging lines brushed aside the breath of football scandal.

The Illinois and Wisconsin, whose acrimonious charges against each other, ranging from violation of rules against professionalism to the prohibition of principles and ethics, set the conference agog, had more humble undertakings in hand in the way of football games. Incidentally these two warring institutions engaged in the only two regular conference games today. Wisconsin met Minnesota at Minneapolis in the most important struggle in the mid-west. Northwestern has invaded the camp of the Illini.

Three teams—Jowa, Ohio State and Chicago—were idle, while Michigan, Indiana and Purdue clashed with teams outside the big ten—the Wolverines playing the Michigan Aggies, Indiana meeting Notre Dame and Purdue engaging Wabash.

West Virginia News Briefs

HUNTINGTON.—For the second time within a few months educational authorities in Cabell county have obtained an injunction to open schools. The second came when Judge Graham granted an order restraining a contractor from interfering with the conduct of the Lower Green Bottom school. ## Miss Harloff Is Elated Over 25 lbs. Gain

People who have suffered until they have become discouraged and out of heart should gain new hope by the experience of Miss Ida Harloff, 1827 Chase St., Toledo, O., who declares: "I have gained twenty-five pounds by taking Tanlac and am now as strong, well and happy as if I had never been sick a day. I had suffered from indigestion and poor circulation for a year or more and when my father started me on Tanlac I scarcely had strength to put one foot in front of the other. I was so thin and frail the folks at home were all uneasy about my health and, to tell the truth, I was scared nearly out of my wits, for I thought I would never get well."

"But since taking Tanlac my nerves are normal, my stomach in fine condition, and my health as good as I could ask it to be. Tanlac has my highest praise."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

VOTE FOR JUDGE PRICE FOR SUPREME COURT

(On the Non-Partisan Judicial Ballot.)

JUDGE T. D. PRICE, New Lexington, Ohio.

A CANDIDATE whose brilliant record as a jurist has been unequalled in all Ohio. Although during his term as common pleas judge he has disposed of more than 2,000 cases, he has never yet had a decision reversed for error. He has held court in a dozen Ohio counties, including a long session in Cuyahoga county, and by his clear-cut, fair interpretation of the law has won for himself a reputation that is recognized by every attorney in Ohio. Judge Price was born in Pomeroy in 1872, graduated from the Ohio State university law school in 1899, and was admitted to the bar within a few weeks after completing his college education, and admitted to the United States district court the same year. He is a member of the Ohio and American Bar associations, and in his candidacy for the common pleas bench polled 67 per cent of the entire vote of his judicial district, a record that never before or has not since been equaled.

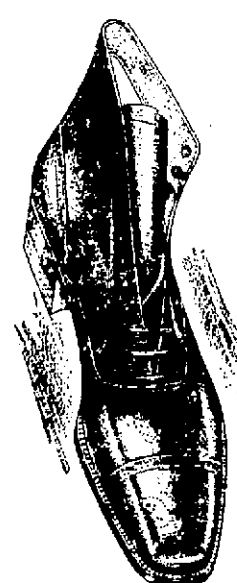

Judge Price, while a member of the Ohio Constitutional convention, made the original proposal to permit women to be at the head of state institutions where women and children are cared for. He has always been recognized as one of the faithful followers of progressiveness in state and national matters, and his stand for equal suffrage was taken long before the issue was finally presented to the voters. Judge Price is especially fitted, through his judicial experience and more than 23 years' practice, to serve Ohio on its highest tribunal, and his election, merited through past performances as a judge, will insure Ohio a fearless jurist, whose opinions always will be based upon the fundamentals which will command continued respect for the courts, the constitution and the state. Signatures to Petition of Judge Price.

Judge Maurice J. Donahue, Clermont, Ohio; Court of Appeals of United States, W. A. Hite, Thornville, Ohio; Mel G. Underwood, R. G. Dally and J. L. Powell, New Lexington, Ohio; Samuel Lehenbaum, Corning, Ohio; Judge Lewis B. Houck, Circuit Court of Appeals of Ohio, Mt. Vernon, Ohio; Lawrence Maxwell, Cincinnati, Ohio; Matt Excell, Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Bernice Pyke, Democratic National Committee Woman, Lakeside, Ohio; Mrs. Gertrude Farn Hendrick, Attorney-at-Law, Cleveland, Ohio; Hon. Henry Booth, Hon. George R. Okey, D. N. Postlewait and Deas Throckmorton, Columbus, Ohio.

FRAUD CHARGES ARE MADE CONCERNING ABSENT VOTERS' BALLOTS IN PIKE COUNTY

Little Pike county, the scene of many hot political battles, and this year is no exception, is, as usual, in the forefront with an election scandal as the result of charges of gross irregularities in connection with the alleged manipulation of the "Absent Voters' Ballots" made by the Republicans against the Democratic organization in the county of which Mr. George B. Nye is the leader.

As the result of developments in Portsmouth Friday night when Icy Nichols, Rhoda Abbott and Robert Abbott, former citizens of Pike county, now living here, were arrested on warrants sworn out by Russell

H. Skeels, a Republican worker of Waverly, charging them with having "illegally obtained official Pike county ballots by false representation to the clerk of the Board of Deputy State Supervisors of Elections in Pike county that they were electors of Sunfish Precinct, in that county, when in truth and in fact they were electors in Precinct B, Second ward, of the City of Portsmouth."

The trio on being taken before Squire J. L. Ricker were questioned and upon disclosures made by the accused during their examination warrants were issued for the arrest of Arthur Herdman and Nick Parker, two Democratic workers in Pike county, for alleged aiding and abetting the defendants in obtaining the ballots illegally.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Bennett went to Pike county last night armed with the warrants for the arrest of Parker and Herdman but up until late this afternoon the officers had failed to locate the men.

The cry of "fraud" stirred both political camps in the county Saturday when charges and counter charges flew back and forth, which has intensified the ill feeling of the rival forces.

It is claimed that the unusual number of applications for "Absent Voters' Ballots," which flooded the Election Board the past few days aroused the suspicion of Republicans and an investigation was started with the hiring of a secret service man to obtain evidence. Some 600 "Absent Ballots" have been called for in Pike county under the law, which represents about one-tenth of the voting population of the county, it is said. It is alleged that some of the back townships already have as many as 100 "Absent Voters' Ballots" recorded.

Attorneys Blair and Blair of this city have been employed to prosecute the alleged fraud and a member of the firm was in Waverly Saturday conducting a further investigation of charges that men out of the penitentiary on parole and others never having lived in the county having been permitted to vote under the "Absent Voters' law."

Judge Blair stated today that he expected to go into the matter thoroughly and intimated that if the facts warranted a special grand jury will be asked for to probe the alleged irregularities of the election.

After the three Portsmouth people arrested last night were questioned they were released by Squire J. L. Ricker on their own recognizance. The statements obtained from them in court were as follows:

Q. Now your husband is here have you any objections to stating all the facts in the matter?

A. No sir.

Q. (Asking her husband) Have you any?

A. No sir.

Q. State your name.

A. Icy Nichols.

Q. How old are you?

A. 21.

Q. Married or single?

A. Married.

Q. Your husband's name?

A. Walter Nichols.

Q. Where do you live?

A. 1005 Chillicothe St.

Q. What city?

A. Portsmouth, Scioto County, State of Ohio.

Q. How long have you lived at your present place on Chillicothe St. in this city?

A. 11 months.

Q. How long have you lived here in the city of Portsmouth, continuously?

A. About four years.

Q. When were you married?

A. 17th of September, 1921.

Q. With whom did you live before you married your husband?

A. My father and mother.

Q. Whereabouts?

A. On Front Street.

Q. What number?

A. Lived there—three different places—101 Waller Street 1141 Front and 1214 Front Street.

Q. You registered in this city to vote this year?

A. Yes sir.

Q. In the precinct in which you now reside?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Has there been anyone made any effort to get you to vote anywhere else?

A. Why yes, Arthur Herdman and Nick Parker.

Q. Just tell in your own way all about this transaction.

A. You mean from the first?

Q. Yes.

A. Well, they came on Sunday, these two men came on Sunday and they asked me if I would vote in Pike County and I told them that I had registered here and he said that did not make no difference and I told them, well, that was all right, that I would vote then. He asked me if there was anyone here especially I wanted to vote for. And I told him "No." So I signed a paper, I do not know what it was and he told me that he would send the ballot or deliver it and then he came back the second time, I believe, and asked me if I had gotten it yet, and I told him "No." So he called up Waverly and asked Doc Nye that the ballots had not gotten here yet, and he told me that Doc Nye said that they would be here the next morning on the first mail route and they came the next morning and then he came back and I signed my name twice. I do not know whether it was on the same paper or two different papers. And I voted and he asked me if I would swear to something. I do not know what it was and I told him I would. I should have found out what he was asking me to swear to, but I did not. Then he left. That was all there was to it. Someone called this morning and wanted to know if I had gotten the ballot yet and if anyone had got it and if it had been sent back yet, and I told him that it had come and they got it.

Q. Who were the parties who were there the first time and got the first papers?

A. (Turning to her husband) Walter, do you know who was there when they came, Oh, yes, Floyd McCall and Mable Abbott and Elva Brown.

Q. Who was it that came to your house on the first occasion?

A. Nick Parker and Arthur Herdman.

Q. Was there anything peculiar about any of these men?

A. I do not know.

Q. Any defects, or anything of that kind?

A. I do not remember. I did not see anything. Oh—Nick Parker had one arm off.

Q. Who was it that came to your home the second time? Who was there?

A. My cousin and I, and Elva Brown.

Q. Where does she live?

A. She stays with me. She boards with me. Jim Penn come with him the second time. That is when he called up to find out if the ballots had been sent from Waverly.

Q. Is the young lady up at your house now?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Were you induced by their statements to vote, believing you had a right to vote?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Who came the time the second papers were signed?

A. Arthur Herdman and Jim Pen, I either signed two papers or my name twice to one paper.

Q. Who was it who told you it was that came with him?

A. Who do you mean? Mr. Herdman?

A. Well, no. The man you did not know?

A. I was not acquainted with any of them, I knew who they were but was not acquainted, except with Mr.

Herdman.

Q. Who told you who the other man was?

A. Well, my cousin knew him. She said who he was as soon as he come.

Q. Who did she tell you he was?

A. Nick Parker she said.

Q. I am asking you about the last time that they were there?

A. I thought you meant the first time, Nick Parker was not there the last time. Arthur Herdman, and another man.

JCY NICHOLS

Q. State your name?

A. Walter Nichols.

Q. Where do you reside?

A. 1005 Chillicothe Street, City of Portsmouth, County of Scioto, and State of Ohio.

Q. Are you related to the lady who has just made a statement?

A. Husband.

Q. How long have you lived in Scioto County?

A. In Scioto County, all my life, which is 24 years.

Q. And you registered with your wife, I believe, this fall to vote?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Were you present at any time when any of these people were in your home to get her to vote?

A. I was present on the first time, on Sunday.

Q. Who all was there at your house?

A. Well, there was just the two men, that was Parker and Herdman, was all, that came and of course, I, my brother, my wife, my wife's cousin and Floyd McCall and Mable Evans.

Q. Tell what you remember about it?

A. Well, they came in and told my wife they wanted her to vote and asked her if she would vote. She told them she had registered to vote here. They told her that did not make any difference, that was all right. She told them all right she would vote then, and they fixed up the papers, I do not know what they were, I did not look at them, and she signed them and I heard them say that the ballots would be there in a few days and she could vote then and send them back. They told her that there would be a man come with them when they voted. That is all I know about it. I guess, I wasn't there any of the other times when they come.

Q. Are you willing to sign and swear to your statements?

A. Yes sir.

WALTER NICHOLS

Q. You are willing to make a statement and tell all the facts?

A. Yes sir.

Q. State your name.

A. Rhoda Abbott.

Q. Where do you live?

A. 1141 Front Street, Portsmouth, Scioto County, Ohio.

Q. And how long have you lived there, Mrs. Abbott?

A. Have lived there since last November 10. Lived on Front and Waller for three years.

Q. You have lived in the City of Portsmouth, Scioto County how long?

A. Will be four years. Little past four years.

Q. Are you married or single?

A. Married.

Q. What is your husband's name?

A. Robert Abbott.

Q. Did I ask you your age?

A. Forty-four.

Q. Just tell in your own way how this came about?

A. Well, it was Sunday morning, just a week or two weeks last Sunday. They came to the door that Herdman and Nick Parker, and I did not know any one of them until they introduced themselves and they come on in and they said they wanted us to vote on there. And I said we could not vote at all until we had registered. We had not registered. He said yes we could vote in the County. And they urged it on us. And so we thought then it was all right we would vote you know. And so they had the blanks and I do not know what they were. They filled them out and they said they would be back then with the ballots and they come back and they said they would bring a lawyer with them when they come back and I suppose that is what it was I do not remember. And so we voted and we signed the paper whatever it was and they swore us. Of course, the swearing part I thought it was just the same as if I was voting. Just the way I would vote to the best of my knowledge. I do not know what they meant but that is how I took it.

Q. Who came the first time to your place?

A. Parker and that there Herd was with them the last time and some man that they said it would be a lawyer of this City. I do not know, and this is what I understood it.

Q. Did you learn the name of the man who came with them the last time?

A. No sir, did not ask.

Q. You registered had you not in this place?

A. I registered before the Presidential Election and voted. I registered then. And then I understood by reading the paper that all who did not register at a certain time could not vote this year and I had not registered.

Q. How many times have you voted in this City?

A. Two, I guess it was.

Q. You voted at the fall election for Mayor last year?

A. Last year, yes.

Q. Did you vote at the primary this summer?

A. No sir.

Q. You have no home in Pike County, Ohio, now?

A. Yes sir. I got a farm. That is the reason they told us we could vote out there. That was a resident.

Q. You have not lived out on that farm have you, since you came to this county?

A. We go back and forwards. We have stayed there a week or so.

Q. Yes, but you have not stayed there?

A. No we have not, but we have stuff in the house.

Q. You informed these men did you, that you had registered here and voted here since you lived here?

A. Well, I do not know whether I did. The way I spoke it as I remember. I said that we had not registered this year and I reckon we cannot vote here. And if I am not mistaken it was the next morning I read in the paper that we could not vote unless we registered here. He said it was the last night we could register, you know.

Q. How did the tickets come to you from the mail or did they bring them?

A. Through the mail.

Q. How many came through the mail?

A. Well, Mr. Abbott got a big envelope from Waverly and he thought it was one of the absent voter's whatever-you-call-them.

Q. Did you get anything through the mail?

A. No, nothing, of course, but the ballots through the mail. They come in the forenoon and his in the afternoon.

Q. Was your ballot sent to you or the one he received—did they all come together?

A. They all come at once but separate envelopes.

Q. You are willing to sign and swear to what you stated to be the truth?

A. Yes sir.

RHODA ABBOTT.

Q. Are you willing to tell what you know and state the facts and tell us the truth about it all?

A. Yes sir.

Q. State your name.

A. Robert Abbott.

Q. Your address?

A. 1141 Front Street, City of Portsmouth, Scioto County, Ohio.

Q. How long have you lived here, continuously Mr. Abbott?

A. Well, I stayed here four years.

Q. Your family has been here with you during all of that time?

A. Mostly, yes.

Q. You have registered and voted here since you lived here have you?

A. Once.

Q. When?

A. Here two years ago.

Q. Have you not voted at the primaries since that time?

A. No sir.

Q. Did you not vote at the City election last fall?

A. No sir.

Q. Mr. Abbott just told us in your own way the circumstances in the case.

A. Well, I always heard a person could vote where they lived, and they come and told me I could vote because I owned property back there, and they stated that I would be called an Absent Voter, that I could vote back there if I wanted to.

Q. What was said about your registering and voting here since you lived here?

A. Wasn't anything said as I remember now.

Q. Anything asked of you about it?

A. Well, no, as I remember it. Did not ask whether I was going to vote or not. I do not remember. But I know before these men came I got a letter from Waverly. Well, I believe I have got letters every Fall since I lived here that I could vote back there if I wanted to, and I got letters three weeks ago from the Auditor that back home they were wanting me to vote, and I never answered them back, and so I said that when these men—I was acquainted with Parker, he is a lawyer himself, and Herdman—that come down because they knew me, you know—they stopped in and they were looking for some parties who owned property out in Waverly. I just forgot his name.

Q. I used to work with him—they said they wanted me to vote and I said I had not thought much about it and they says you just must—we got your name here among the other Absent Voters from Pike County and so he says—I did not know but what I had a right to vote you know—he says we will be back in a day or two and we will just mail you the ballots and then he says you can go to a Notary Public here and get them filled out and then before they left, they said they would just bring a Notary Public with them and save us the time of going and they come again and we voted and that is all I know about it.

Q. Who was it that came?

A. Herdman was one of the first fellows and the other fellow from Waverly. I never understood his name. I have seen him at Waverly. I do not know just his name and him personally.

Q. About what age was he?

A. Well, he looked about like a man of 35, I guess.

Q. They did not inquire did they, as to whether you had voted in this City, did they?

A. Well, there was so much talk about registering and voting, that I do not remember. They know I voted once.

Q. How did they learn that?

A. Well, I do not just know how they did find out. They knew I had generally voted, I guess. Of course, Parker, why I was raised just in the neighborhood where he was in. That is why I thought I had a right to vote. His coming and him knowing all about the law. He should know. He knows the law and should know.

Q. You say that you had voted once down here at Portsmouth and they knew it. Then that matter was discussed in some way, was it not?

A. Yes sir, my wife and I was talking. There was a good many there and they all were talking I do not remember quite.

You are willing to sign and swear to your statement are you not?

A. Yes sir.

ROBERT ABBOTT

A telephone message to The Times from Waverly Saturday afternoon, stated that friends and relatives of the two men for whom warrants had been issued on charges of fraud, were ready to defend them to the hilt. They have arranged with a local Portsmouth lawyer to defend the men, and bond will be given at once. It was said the men were not in hiding, but that they would give themselves up, and arrange for bond, whenever the sheriff came after them.

It was claimed that the Abbotts were home-side residents of Pike County, owned a farm there, and spent much of their time there. It was supposed, of course, that they retained their residence in the county according to a relative of one of the men accused of aiding and abetting fraudulent voting.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I am a married woman in name only, as my husband does not pay any attention to me. All his spare time is taken up with other "hobbies." He has an automobile but I seldom get a ride in it. After I have converted him for an hour to take me a ride he will ride me around the block a few times then bring me home and drag me around over the house, throw me against the wall, and call me all kinds of names. I have to take in washings and ironings to get money to buy food and clothing for myself and children, while my husband spends his money on other women. He won't buy any clothes, my children have to work different places to get a little money to buy things to wear. Now Dolly, I love my husband and I don't think it is right that he should be a ladies' man all his life. Tell me what to do.

Dear Dolly—A friend of mine in Trenton wrote me for the name and address of a doctor that visited Portsmouth a few weeks ago. I think he said he was from Cincinnati, but I don't know who it was and I want you to print his name and address in the paper so I can get it and send it to this friend.

MRS. W. M. H.

I don't know who you mean and if I made a guess I would be sure to get the wrong doctor. Write and ask your friend when he was here and what he was here for, and I may be able to find out his name. I have the address of every doctor in Cincinnati and Columbus.

Jackson, Ohio, Dear Dolly—Please send me a good recipe for hickory nut cake and also, a jam cake.

WAITING.

SOCIETY

The Little Misses Ruth Ferguson and Genevieve Copen were the hostesses of a very delightful Halloween party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Ferguson of Murray street. Weird decorations of black and gold crepe paper, pumpkins, witches and ghosts made the evening all the more amusing to the little folks. Music and games were enjoyed until a late hour, when refreshments were served to the following little guests:

Sarah Jane Gower, Ruth and Ruth Atkins, Marjorie and Gordon Tillis, Jane and Mary Elliott, Margaret and Chas. Beard, Genevieve and Floyd Copen, Carl and Cecil Copen, Ruth, Dorothy and Betty Ferguson, Ford Anderson, Aden Burton, Chas. Estep, Harold Stuart.

Among the grown-ups attending were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Copen, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Copen, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Corbitt and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Beard and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Ferguson.

The First Presbyterian Aid Society will meet Tuesday afternoon, November 7th, at the home of Mrs. R. T. Haislip, 1420 Park avenue. Every group mother is expected to bring a full report of their pledge cards.

Miss Henrietta Stahl and brother, Adam Stahl, left this morning for a week-end visit with friends in Cincinnati.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church met in an all day session Thursday at the home of Mrs. Harry King. Two quilts were quilted and a general good time was had by all present. At the noon hour a delicious dinner was served by Mrs. King to the following members and guests:

Messhams F. M. Gray, Lizzie Raeburn, Abbie Roe, Maggie Warnock, Julia Boggs, Lizzie Holbrook, Stella Williams, Gertrude Nichols, Arizona Smith, Rachel Waggoner, Ida Robinson, Kate Davis, Violet McManis, Lena Adams, John Stewart, all of Fullerton.

Mrs. Offie Gilgen and Mary Valzmore and Pearl Purdy of Portsmouth.

Mrs. Joe Justice and Mrs. Wm. Gray of Schlotzville, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Harry King and children.

In the afternoon the new pastor, Rev. Peters of Indiana, met with the society and discussed plans for the building of a new parsonage. The devotionals were also led by the pastor.

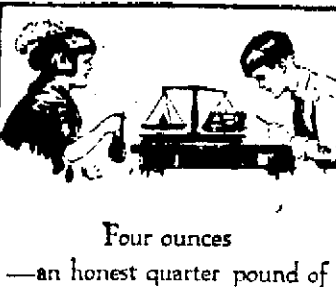

Mrs. A. J. Daniels and children, Kathleen and Walter, of 1230 Linden avenue, have returned from a two weeks' visit with her son, John Daniels and family, in Columbus.

The Ladies' Aid of Oldtown church met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. George Mitchell, with eighteen members present. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. James Giles. It was decided to meet next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. C. L. Wood and cut out aprons to be made up by the society. It was also decided to have a social and chicken supper Nov. 23rd, to be held in the township hall flower room of the old school house. The next regular meeting will be held in two weeks with Mrs. John Jenkins, wife Mrs. W. E. Davis helping serve refreshments.

Mrs. Lucy Schleifer's Sunday School class of the First Evangelical church will be entertained Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Ernest L. Schinsky, Alexandria Apartments, 813 Second street.

The Moosehead Legion will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 at their hall, Third and Washington streets. All members are requested to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Newman and children of Sixth street and Mrs. E. Reed of Campbell avenue moved to Columbus this morning to visit friends.

WORKING GIRLS LOOK HERE

Read what Mrs. Lucas Writes Concerning Her Troubles, which May be Just Like Yours

St. Louis, Mo.—"I had troubles that all women are apt to have, with pains in my back, weak, tired, nervous feelings and a weak stomach. I had been this way about a year and was unable to work or stand on my feet for any length of time. My husband's aunt told me how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done her and begged me to try it, so I did. All my pains and weakness are gone, my stomach is all right and I do my work at home and also work for Swift's Packing Company. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may publish my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. LULU LUCAS, 719A Vandeventer St., St. Louis, Mo.

Again and again one woman tells another of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

You who work must keep yourself strong and well. You can't work if you are suffering from such troubles. Mrs. Lucas couldn't. She tried our Vegetable Compound and her letter tells you what it did for her. Give it a fair trial now.

For Evening

Sapphire blue velvet with a lining of silver cloth and elaborate sleeves and a novel collar, left the news of this lovely evening coat.

Mrs. Clark Waller, of Timonville avenue, opened her home yesterday afternoon to the members of Group No. 10, of the Ladies Aid Society of the Trinity M. E. Church.

Plans were made at this meeting for a Thanksgiving bazaar, but the exact time and place was not decided upon.

During the social hour the hostess served refreshments.

Mrs. William Journey of Kansas, was the only guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ismael, of 1235 Seventeenth street, are entertaining as their week-end guests, Mrs. Ismael's mother, Mrs. J. W. Watkins, of Garrison, Ky.

The Ketchikan Auxiliary of the Second Presbyterian Church will hold their monthly meeting Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. C. Tucker, 1603 Offshore street, Group No. 1. I will be in charge of the meeting.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

THE next person the Twins met while hunting for Mother Goose's broom was Contrary Mary in her garden.

"Good morning," said Nancy and Nick politely as they came to the gate.

"Good evening," answered Contrary Mary contrarily. "Who are you and where are you going?"

"We're not going anywhere just now," said Nancy. "We'd like to stay here for a little while and talk to you if you don't mind. We're pretty tired for we've been traveling."

"Contrary Mary, who had a kind heart in spite of her contrariness, invited them to sit down on some large cockle-shells, while she went around with her watering pot.

"Where have you been?" she asked curiously. "What made you so tired?"

"Oh, we've been everywhere. I guess," replied Nick. To Mars and Jupiter and all along the Milky Way.

It is safe for all the family (even had pneumonia and I am sure to take a pure food medicine. No it helped them to get well. I can't drugs. Advertisement.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

Jack Daw, like other boys, is a great lover of the water. He has dreamed about sailing to other lands and seeing wonderful things. "Now, I wish I could build a raft," said he, as he watched the waves wash in. An old fisherman sitting nearby, heard Jack's wish and looked up.

"Well, look here, sonny," said the fisherman, "why don't you try your luck at raft building?" It isn't hard and maybe I'll help you along a bit," said Jack. "That will be fine! And there's lots of wood right on the beach." So shortly, the raft was started.

It was hardly an hour before the raft was finished. Jack put a large sack of provisions and a big blanket on board and pushed it into the water. Flip, Jack's dog, seemed very excited and barked loud. Banked the fisherman and hopped on the raft. (Continued.)

Files Answer And Cross Petition
Maggie Bliss, named as defendant in a petition for divorce filed by her husband, Roy Bliss, the first of the week, yesterday filed her answer and cross petition.

In her answer she admits that they were married in December, 1913, and that they have two children, Norma, aged 6 and Elizabeth, aged 14 months, but she denies each and every other allegation in her husband's petition.

In her petition, Mrs. Bliss charges infidelity and that her husband contracted a vile and loathsome disease, which he communicated to her. She contracted the disease, she says, in November, 1917, shortly after a child was born to them, and she alleges the child contracted the disease from her and died as a result of the malady.

She further charges that he has abused her, struck her, and that he has failed to provide for her.

She seeks temporary alimony, a divorce, permanent alimony and the custody of their two children.

ENGINE COOLED BY CONDENSED MILK, SOUP AND COFFEE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—An engine cooled by coffee, soup and condensed milk brought Lieutenants Oakley Kelly and John Macready over the middlewestern states last night to the conclusion of their attempted flight from coast to coast in the army airplane T-2. They landed at Fort Benjamin Harrison near here this morning when all the water and liquid sustenance which they carried on their ship was exhausted, having been poured into the radiator to replace the water which leaked away through a cracked water jacket of their engine.

DAYTON, November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Lieutenants J. A. Macready and Oakley Kelly, army aviators, arrived at McCook aviation fields here at 11:15 o'clock today and reported to Major T. H. Bane, their commanding officer.

In telling to Major Bane their first official report of the flight, the aviators revealed that during their nearly thirty hours in the air, they were in the midst of a storm and rain for 11 hours and 30 minutes.

In crossing the mountains the wind was so strong that it threatened several times to turn their ship over.

"At various times I thought the end was near," Lieutenant Kelly said. "I can safely say that two men never were nearer death than when the high winds in the passes of the Rockies tossed us about like a toy."

"At one time we were flying smoothly at an altitude of 6,500 feet when suddenly a cliff loomed in front of us. I began to guide the ship to avoid crashing and by a mere chance I was successful in scaling the top of a precipice by about three feet."

"Our first indication of real trouble came when we noticed the water leak while passing over Kansas."

"We made every effort to keep our motor cool by using our reserve supply of water and jockeyed along until reaching Indiana."

"Here we made a final inspection of the ship and found that the engine was so hot that it would not permit us to go farther. We made the landing without trouble."

Disappointed but not discouraged by their failure to finish the flight to New York, both flyers indicated that they want to repeat the attempt from San Diego if the war department will give its consent.

Lieutenant Macready, replying to a question said that although in the air 32 hours as against 25 on the flight ending today, the recent endeavor was a very critical condition. His wife is a prisoner at the city jail but as yet no formal charge has been preferred against her.

"The wisest in the mountains with the difference between the comparative safety of the flight over San Diego, and the dangers of the coastward voyage," he said.

"We did not lose our way during the trip, but our instruments worked perfectly and informed us at all times of our location and the direction in which we were traveling. Every crew member, which consisted of five men, was well prepared to use his own judgment in the event of a defective water line."

Will Sultan Abdicate? Question Bothering Near East

CONSTANTINOPLE, November 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The whole Near East was anxious today to learn what the Sultan was going to do about the unanimous decree of the grand national assembly, sitting at Ankara declaring the Sultanate in Turkey at an end. The Sultan is declared by some of the newspapers to be ready to abdicate, but the general opinion is that he will ignore the decision reached at Ankara.

The heir apparent, Abdul Medjid, cousin of the Sultan, and other members of the imperial family conferred last night. They gave particular attention to the decision of the national assembly that hereafter the choice of the Caliph is to be that member of the imperial family who is the best instructed, the best educated, the most honest and the wisest. All of the imperial conferees decided that none of them would accept the throne if stripped of temporal power.

The action at Ankara split the Constantinople cabinet. Shortly after the news came from Ankara Tewfik Bey resigned as minister of finance in the Sultan's cabinet and Said Bey gave up his post as minister of public instruction.

After the conference, the Sultan drove to a mosque and performed his usual devotions. A large congregation was present as a result of rumors that he would resign. Photographers availed themselves of a possible last chance to see the Sultan. In his facial expression there was no sign that he should relinquish his throne.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Canfield and family are moving from Pine Creek to New Boston.

Speaking Of Luck

Herbert Barber of an auto body building firm of Ashland was counting himself among one of the luckiest men in the world Friday. He lost his pocketbook containing 800 and within an hour had recovered it, although the finder had traveled close to twenty miles away from where the money was picked up.

Barber and a fellow-worker were on their way to the Whitaker-Glessner steel plant at New Boston to get a truck load of steel. They had a light Ford truck and while coming over the detour east of Franklin Furnace the pocketbook was jolted out of his pocket. He did not miss it until a man in a big touring car overtook him at Lakeside and told him that a man in a Ford sedan had stopped and picked up a lost pocketbook and asked him if he lost one.

He felt in his pocket and sure enough his money was gone. The driver of the Ford sedan had stopped the driver of the touring car and asked him if he had lost it and he remembered the truck passing him on the road. Barber climbed into the big touring car and the two men started to Portsmouth to search for the driver of the Ford sedan who had passed them on the road. On Eleventh street near the brick factory they overtook him and the man gladly handed over the pocketbook and money stating that he meant to turn it in at the local police station.

To Speak In Pike Co. J. H. Finney will speak tomorrow afternoon in the Howard church near Coopersville Pike Co. at 2:30 and at Latham M. E. church, Pike Co. at 7 p. m. on the proposed Brewer's and Boggs' amendment to the Constitution of Ohio.

The flying squadron composed of a quartet of ministers and a speaker reports very successful meetings last night at Wheelersburg, Sciotoville and the Railroad Y. M. C. A. The first 3 meetings were held on the streets to large and attentive audiences.

RIVER NEWS

The Ohio river registered a stage of 11.8 feet in the Portsmouth district Saturday. Strambout traffic is still tied up by the low stage of the stream.

SOCIETY

One of the most delightful Halloween parties took place Friday evening when Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Russell, of Fourth street, Mrs. R. H. Lane, Mrs. Fred Keamerer, Mrs. Sara Little, Miss Mary Beaul and Miss More Little chaperoned a coterie of young high school students to the Walker home on the Ruena Vista pike. Miss Sara Louise Walker was hostess and the trip was made by motor.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walker and Mrs. Walker's mother, Mrs. J. L. Baker, welcomed the guests. The Walker home was lovely, with autumn leaves, Halloween suggestions and tiddler arranged about the rooms, and the huge log fire-place at one end of the living room lent a cheery atmosphere.

The time was spent with games and dancing, and at an appropriate hour delicious refreshments were served.

The guests included Josephine Gibson, Margaret Armstrong, Mary Louise Selby, Helen Armstrong, Dorothy Cropper, Helen Smith, Bertha Davis, Savilla Smith, Martha Gould, Virginia Clark, Lucy Dixon, Georgia West, Mildred Hughes, Mary Margaret Teener, Virginia Robinson, Katherine Doerr, Katherine Scott, Florence Lane, Gladys Odle, Dorothy Zucker, Margaret Ackley and Charlotte Bell.

The pretty home of Mrs. Floyd E. Wells of 1616 Sixth street was the scene of a delightful children's party Friday evening when Mrs. Wells and Mrs. George Reid entertained with a Halloween party for the pleasure of their children, Ruth, Junior and Helen Wells, and George, Catherine and Marvella Reid.

The lower floor of the Wells home was beautifully decorated in black and orange, the season's colors, and various other Halloween novelties, which made an attractive setting for the many comic and fanciful masquerade costumes worn by the little folks.

Piano and Victrola music, games and various stunts formed the diversions of the evening. Lucile Lausford was awarded the prize for pinning the tail on the donkey. Later the little folks were invited into the dining-room, where they were served with a delicious refreshment course. The table was prettily appointed for the occasion in yellow and black, streamers of crepe paper being suspended from the chandelier to each place, and the favors were small yellow baskets filled with candies. Covers were laid for:

Mrs. Chris Heier received the members of the Justamer Club Friday afternoon at her home, 1812 Hutchins street. The time was devoted to fancy needlework and social chat and at the close of the afternoon the hostess served a dainty lunch.

The guests for the afternoon, other than the club members, were Mrs. W. H. Chandler, Mrs. D. S. Drake and Mrs. H. H. Eades.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ackley, of 1522 Seventh street, left today for New York City, where they will spend the winter. While there Mrs. Ackley will take a post-graduate course in foot correction and chiropody.

The Frances Badger Guild of All Saints' church will meet Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Howard Newman on Second street. The meeting will convene promptly at 2:30 o'clock and all members are urged to be present on time. Members are also asked to bring articles they are to donate to the bazaar to be held Thursday and Friday in the Parish House.

The Winter Garden announces another of their popular dances this evening under the management of W. H. Brumfield, who recently assumed charge of this popular amusement house. The Blue Grass Seven will furnish the music, and dancing will continue until midnight.

The Bethany Class of the Franklin Avenue M. E. Church held an enjoyable Halloween party Thursday evening in connection with their business meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Williams, 1633 Eleventh street. There was an unusually large attendance and the majority of the members, wearing masquerade costumes. After the usual fun and merriment, the members removed their masks and held their business session, and later a social hour was enjoyed, during which piano and violin music were enjoyed. Mrs. Williams was assisted in serving an elaborate lunch by her daughter, Mrs. Albert Hill.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Frank L. Marting of Sunnyside.

Miss Oleum Adams of Fourth street left this afternoon for a visit with friends in Charleston, W. Va.

The Ladies Aid Society of the First Evangelical church will hold their monthly coffee social next Wednesday afternoon at the church.

Mrs. Lena Hughes of 914 Waller street, who has been ill with an attack of acute indigestion, is much better.

Mrs. Corney Jeffords of Fifth street returned Friday afternoon from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ebert of Johnson City, Tenn.

Mrs. Martha Joudley entertained with an attractive six o'clock dinner Friday evening at her home on John street for the pleasure of her small grandson, George Hensley, Jr., who was six years of age Friday. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Hensley and children, George, Arthur and Kenton.

Autos Collide A touring car driven by Glenn Edwards of the Breece plant and a Ford touring car driven by Mrs. Charles Hall of Mabert Road collided at Gallia and Mabert Road about 11:15 o'clock today. Mr. Edwards was driving west on Gallia street while Mrs. Hall was driving east on Gallia and turned to go north on Mabert Road. The cars came together at the intersection.

One wheel was broken off the Ford and the rear wheel was torn off the car driven by Edwards when it swung around and struck the street curb with much force. The drivers were uninjured.

Drive a Reo—Johnson Bros. Auto Insurance, W. W. Bauer.

Final Rally The G. A. P. held its final rally of the campaign in the G. A. R. hall at Friendship Friday night under the auspices of the Nile township Thompson-for-Governor club.

Although Floyd Lavender and other gang henchmen had for days been active in beating the bushes in an effort to drum up a crowd the attendance was only fair, really disappointing, and there was a sad lack of enthusiasm and interest.

Frank W. Moulton was the principal speaker and he devoted the greater part of his address to denouncing the Democrats and appealing to Republicans to "vote or straight."

Democratic Control of County Board of Commissioners End in Financial Disaster; Read What the Official Records Show

$60,000 Deficiency Bonds Had To Be Issued; Unlawful Manipulation Of Funds Found; Egbert Family Got Big Sum.

For the past several weeks there has been running in the local Democratic press a daily list of vouchers issued to various persons in Scioto county. The publication of these vouchers is made at this time for but one purpose, which is openly admitted in the editorial comment, "To induce the voters of Scioto county to cast their votes for Democratic office seekers."

The best way to judge what would happen if this County were "turned over to the Democrats," is to go back into the history of the county and see what happened when such a thing was done before. We find by the records of Scioto county that in the years from September, 1911 to September, 1915, the Democrats were in control over the expenditures of the money of the county. They had elected two Democrats, Wm. Bennett and Daniel Egbert as Commissioners and a part of the campaigns which led up to that upheaval was the same hue and cry about expenditures of money for road repairs, as is being made at present.

What happened under the Democratic rule?

THE RECORD SPEAKS:

"The records of the county show that as the result of the mismanagement, extravagance and 'illegal manipulation of funds,' Scioto county was forced soon after this Democratic board of commissioners went out of office to issue deficiency bonds in the sum of $60,000 to take care of the situation. These bonds cost the taxpayers of the county $2,700 in interest alone a year, have been paid off at the rate of $6,000 a year and even if we have no further Democratic administration will not be paid off entirely until November, 1928.

The record show that this Democratic board of commissioners borrowed $7,000 on March 10, 1913 ostensibly to pay a bill of that amount for the care of Scioto county unfortunates in the State institution for feeble minded. Yet that Democratic board spent that borrowed $7,000 for other purposes.

Do not forget that the records show that same Democratic board of commissioners 'illegally' diverted from the purpose the sum of $42,550. This sum is itemized as to day and date.

LEFT A 'LEGACY'

Do not forget that the special report of a state examiner after his visit in September, 1915, left on file bills amounting to $4,549.14 for work illegally contracted and in direct violation of the law, as there were no funds available for their payment.

Do not forget that the special report of a state examiner after showing the thousands of dollars illegally expended further makes this astounding statement which has never been disputed as to truth: "It will be seen that virtually all the working funds of the county have been expended in advance, and that until the February, 1916 distribution at least the present board of commissioners has no funds available for any work or contract, and that much of the funds at that distribution will be needed to liquidate the overdrafts and meet the payments of indebtedness already incurred, if the same shall be declared binding on the county."

MIDDLE FOR COURTS

In their anxiety to spend everything in sight before going out of office this Democratic board placed the finances of this county in such a condition, created such a doubt in the minds of all as to the legality of this indebtedness that they had incurred that it was necessary to appeal to the courts for an answer to the question as to whether these overdrafts and deficiencies should be made good.

With such a record of extravagance, mismanagement and violation of the law, surely no taxpayer will be fooled into voting to turn the Court House over to the Democrats again.

In the few days remaining before election we want to give a few instances of how the Democrats administered affairs when they were in power. Remember we will quote directly from the records of the county, and if there be anything that may seem to appear unseemingly, it will be because the Democratic officials made it so.

RELATIVES TAKEN CARE OF

Today we will take up how a Democratic commissioner, Daniel Egbert, elected by a frenzied appeal to "turn the county over to the Democrats" looked after his relatives in the way of providing them with jobs paid for by the tax payers' money.

The records show that these relatives in a year from November, 1914, until the next November, drew from the road repair fund the stupendous sum of $4,049.12. The relatives are Walter and John, sons; William, a brother, and Fred, a nephew. The list of payments to these relatives follows:

SOME MORE FACTS

We want to call attention also to the fact that the Democrats who have been making a great rumpus because the present county surveyor has employed a force of men to build new roads and bridges, to repair roads, etc., when they had control of the county surveyor's office, paid one man more than $16,000 in two years as an assistant to the county surveyor's department. The same Democrats also threw away at least $9,000 of the tax payers' money on the Boone, a steam ferry for which they paid $3,500 and sold a year later for $1,000, after spending $6,500 in a vain attempt to operate that worn out old boat.

When such facts are recalled we feel sure that no Republican voter will be fooled into again turning the county over to the Democrats. The safe way is to cast your ballot for the entire Republican ticket.

Do you want to vote Scioto County into the hands of the Democrats and give them another chance to waste and squander your money?

Delivers Another Stirring Sermon

Leadership is not the force of financial aristocracy, exclusiveness, the power of sword or office—leadership is the yielding of one's self to a great ideal until one becomes an inspiration to the weakest, arousing ambition in every heart that can be fulfilled. This was the climax of another stirring evangelistic sermon delivered last night at Trinity church by Dr. George Wood Anderson who will conclude his series of meetings tomorrow night. The audience that greeted Dr. Anderson last night was the largest since the special meetings opened Tuesday night.

The music furnished for the night was unusual for a meeting of that kind. A large chorus composed of singers from the different churches and from the Community Chorus occupied a large part of the balcony under the direction of Prof. Walter Jenkins, song leader with the Anderson party and with R. D. Ackley as pianist, rendered special selections that added much to the evening's service.

Dr. Anderson in part said: "The possibility of great leadership is within every breast. This is not the age of what the world sometimes calls leadership but sometimes even the best intentions are mistaken in the use of terms."

Leadership is not sitting upon a pedestal directing a policy which others must follow automatically, losing their own initiative while they obey orders. Leadership is the exercise of an overpowering will that crushes opposition and leads as way onward regardless of the hopes and welfare of those whom it destroys. Leadership is not the position of military authority or of great prestige that creates an artificial aristocracy that must be followed blindly.

He who sits in the revolving chair, dictating a policy instead of being a leader may possess only the gifts of an organizer, who performs the worthy service of bringing order out of chaos and efficiency out of useless waste of time and energy; but that is not leadership. There is value in the will to dare and do, but the cruel use of will power is akin to the ruthless use of brute force and the hellish doctrine that might make right. The tendency to use military, political or any other form of artificial aristocracy, as valuable as both may be in well organized and well governed society, is fatal to the ones who follow, for it soon becomes a military despotism, resulting in such autocratic rules as, with our own eyes, we have seen in the reign and ruin of the czar and Kaiser.

Leaders of men do not dominate but inspire their fellowmen. Leaders instead of crushing the individuality and destroying it stir men up awaken their dormant powers and makes them strong, heroic men of achievement.

Who are the three greatest leaders of the world war? "The conflict developed a wonderful group of mighty statesmen, Balfour and Lloyd George, Orlando and Clemenceau and Wilson and Lodge. Which three shall take their places as the three men of greatest influence. These men all wrought a great work but this group will never be disturbed for the historian who seeks for the three greatest leaders."

The world war developed a wonderful group of great generals. Sir, Douglas Haig, Marshall Joffre, Pershing and Foch. Men of commanding and enduring military power.

Which three shall take their places as the three greatest generals of the late world war. None of these. They were all men of stalwart character, unflinching courage and selfless hearts, but they were men, trained as specialists to organize and give commands. They are not the worlds greatest leaders.

I will tell you who were the great outstanding leaders of the world war: One came from a humble thatched roofed English home, another came from a peasant home in France, another came from a royal God-fearing, liberty loving home in America. The three leaders in all probability never saw each other, or clasped hands in loyalty and love, but each one, unnoticed by the world went forth to his appointed task. He was not asked to organize or to give command, but to live his life to the fullest for God and country.

Their starting forth to the conquest was heralded by no boom of cannon or blare of trumpet and they went buried in the ranks and were known only as "one of the soldiers." Their lives were not unlike the lives of millions of others. They wanted the land of France and Flanders. The one dressed in horizon blue marched toward Verdun, the one with a Union Jack pressed to his heart pressed to Ypres or to Somme. The one in khaki pressed toward Gallien woods or the Argonne. They were one of the millions whose keen intellect and physical strength were required to save the patient work of twenty centuries of civilization and without thought of self but in a passion of devotion throw themselves into the cauldron of fire and shot and shell, bursting bomb and poisonous gas, wrestling against the fortified position of the entrenched enemies of civilization until, amid the crash of a tremendous onslaught, they fell, so mutilated by fire or shell that their identity became unknown and they were buried in unmarked graves.

The names of admirals, generals, presidents or kings will become forgotten, but these three unknown soldiers shall march coming generations to chivalry and righteous conflict. Their dust is too precious to lie in the open field so France takes up the unknown dead and places it beneath the great Arc de Triumphant in the hearts of Paris. England takes up her treasured dead and buries him with Kings and Queens and still more royal dust like that of Gladstone and David Livingstone; and America, amid a silence hitherto unequalled, placed her hero amid the valiant sons of Arlington. The great personages of the war are not admirals, generals, kings or presidents, they are the bodies of the three unknown. Long after the other names are forgotten, save as written by the historian's pen or engraved on tablets of marble or of bronze these three men will still the hearts of untold millions and make them strong to battle for the right.

Never were the teachings of Christ so vividly fulfilled as in this age in which we live. "He who would find his life must lose it." "He who would become the greatest in the Kingdom of God must be the servant of all" or as Paul says, "Unknown and yet well known, as dead and yet alive they live."

Leadership is not the force of financial aristocracy, exclusiveness, the power of sword or office—leadership is the yielding of one's self to a great ideal until one becomes an inspiration to the weakest, arousing ambition in every heart that can be fulfilled in just as noble and heroic action.

The Afternoon Meeting. Yesterday afternoon the auditorium of the Trinity M. E. Church was well filled when Dr. Anderson talked to women the W. C. T. U. attending in a body.

In his sermon yesterday afternoon, the great preacher said: "The problem of the parent today is to overcome two of the serious conditions that jeopardize our young folks. The making of pleasure as the great objective of life and the tendency to discard all moral restraint. The nineteen year old boy and sixteen year old girl who run away to live together for six months on trial gave as their reasons that the young folks of the village found life too tame."

"Neither pleasure seeking nor license can bring healthful results. Two things are essential in combating these conditions, a sharp discrimination on the part of the parents between right and wrong and the emphasizing the sacredness of law."

"A right standing on the part of the women on the question of the proposed amendment to the constitution of Ohio will do more to establish this sense of righteousness and sacredness of law than any other step that could possibly be taken. The women should register a protest against the liquor traffic that will stand out clearly in the sight of the world. The welfare of our young folks demands it."

Meeting At The Breese Plant.

From twelve to twelve-thirty yesterday afternoon Dr. Anderson spoke to the men of the Breese Manufacturing Co. at that company's plant.

An improvised pulpit was arranged for Dr. Anderson, and a piano was put in for the use of Mr. Ackley. Mr. Jenkins led the men in singing, and sang several solos.

Evans Injured. Ernest Evans of Nauvoo is recovering from an injury he suffered on Halloween night when he was hit in the eye by a brick thrown by an unknown person. He is the son of Brian Evans.

Much Improved. Miss Fannie Dragan, who has been quite ill at her home on Eleventh street, is much improved and will return to her work in the Times office Monday.

Mr. Kugelman Here. William Kugelman has returned from a successful trip through his territory, West Virginia.

MEXICO CITY AS A SUMMER SCHOOL RESORT

MEXICO CITY, MEXICO. (By mail to United Press.)—Although the summer course of the national university of Mexico for this year only closed recently, plans are already being made for a still larger school next summer.

The session this year was a great success and the number of students was increased from 45 the previous year to 500 this year. Students from the United States made up the greater part of the enrollment.

Among those who attended the course this year were 40 ex-service veterans and students of the School of Foreign Service, Georgetown University, Washington, D. C.

"The future of the summer school in Mexico is certainly a challenging one," Dean R. S. McClure of the Georgetown University said to the United Press.

"With the cool climate, the many places and objects of historical, artistic and romantic interest, the learning of the Spanish language and all the scientific lore offered by the erudite faculty of the university, is offered a combination of advantages for summer study and recreation that cannot be equaled anywhere."

"This summer's course has been very successful and I venture the opinion that there has been started a form of summer school training in Mexico that will become the greatest educational institution barring none."

Enjoy Motor Trip. Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Patterson of Piquette and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moulton of Lucasville are home from a motor trip to Washington, D. C.

COLUMBUS MAROONS PLAY HERE SUNDAY

The famous Columbus Maroons, hand when the whistle blows. The conceded to be one of the best football teams in the Capital City, will strut its stuff in Millbrook Sunday afternoon, when it meets the Smoke House in a real gridiron battle. Play will be called at 2:30 and indications are that a record crowd will be on Nesser boys, the bulwark of the Maroons, are widely known football players and no doubt will give a good account of themselves tomorrow. The Smoke House crew will have its work cut out for it tomorrow. Fans should turn out in large numbers for this game.

The Smoke House team will present its regular line up. The Maroons will line up as follows: Reitz, quarterback; Akens, center; Johnson and Johnson, guards; Nesser and Nesser, tackles; Murray and McIntosh, ends; Nesser and Nesser, halfbacks; Adams, fullback.

Elks' Memorial Services December 3

Plans are going forward for the Elks' annual memorial service, which will be held Sunday, December 3, when fitting tribute will be paid to the departed members. During this year in Elks' domin, three members have passed on:

Roy C. Lynn, John Luman and Frank Norris, the latter dying at his home in Chicago. The memorial committee this year includes W. H. Schwartz, chairman, Otto B. Maiter and Chester Higgins.

UPON WHAT PLEA is Representative Charles C. Kearns justified in seeking a fifth term in Congress at the hands of the voters of Scioto county and the Sixth District?

What accounting of his stewardship in Washington for the last seven and a half years, aside from narrow partisanship, is he able to make to the men and women of Scioto county that merits a manifestation of their approval at the polls next Tuesday?

What is there in his record that has brought either prestige to himself or credit to the District he has represented for four consecutive terms? Can one recall a piece of constructive legislation that bears his name or in the enactment of which he was prominent either as a leader or an advocate? Has there been any movement in Congress, calculated to advance the interests of his District or of the country as a whole, to the success of which he has contributed the slightest impetus?

Mr. Kearns can not be measured by the same rule which is applied to a beginner in Congress. He is a veteran member in point of service on the Republican side. Very few Republican colleagues exceed him in length of service. If ever he was destined to become a factor in Congress, politically or otherwise, the evidences should have been apparent long since.

Yet what is there in his record—even during the last four years when his party has been in control of the House, that distinguishes him from the horde of political accidents who were swept into Congress two years ago on the Harding wave? Is there a single achievement to his credit that stamps him as an outstanding member among his Congressional fellows?

His supporters lay great stress on the fact that he is a member of the Military Affairs Committee, one of the major committees of the House, but they are careful not to add that committee assignments are made in accordance with our archaic seniority rules, and not because of merit. He would be a member of the Military Affairs Committee or some other committee of equal rank, under the system that prevails in the House, if he only staid in Washington long enough each session to be sworn in and to receive his pay-check.

The question is, what has he done during the four years he has been a member of this important committee to merit the assignment? What legislation emanating from that committee did he originate, and when has his name been mentioned even indirectly in connection with the measures that have come from that committee, either in committee session or on the floor of the House?

His sole bid for fame as a member of that committee came near the close of the recent session when he assumed authorship of a highly technical minority report from that committee which has been responsible for delaying one of the greatest boons to the farmers of southern Ohio, the Muscle Shoals project, which would insure fertilizer at cheaper prices than have ever been known in the industry.

On that question, the Representative of the Sixth District took his stand with the big fertilizer monopolies and the public utility corporations which are seeking to utilize this huge investment of the Government for private gain and arrayed himself against such public spirited organizations as the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange, the Consumers' League, the American Federation of Labor, and their allied bodies.

He was one of the few Republican members from Ohio who voted to sustain the dye embargo and the duty on potash in the tariff bill. Fortunately, enough Republican members, many of them from Ohio, joined with the Democrats to defeat decisively this brazen attempt to put the control of dyestuffs in this country into the hands of dye monopoly and to levy additional tribute from the farmers in the form of an impost on the potash that is used in the manufacture of fertilizer.

He supported the numerous schedules in the tariff bill which went far beyond the Republican principle of protection and which have added to the cost of living of every man, woman and child in this country. Not once did he lift his voice nor cast his vote to relieve the heavy burden that was placed on their shoulders by the tariff barons in Congress, not even when the necessities of life, such as food and clothing, were involved.

Mr. Kearns is typical of the reactionary element in the Republican party, the element that has brought the party to the verge of another disaster as great as 1912, when another Ohio President was crucified because of the betrayal of the people by his Republican Congress. In this role, he is content to be a meek follower, never an outstanding leader or spokesman. There never has been a time when he was not willing to sacrifice the interests of his constituents, particularly in matters of taxation and tariff legislation, to carry favor with the reactionary leaders who control the House organization and pass out the few crumbs that go to the faithful. His attitude on these questions never have brought the slightest worry to the Mondells and Fordneys who are leaving the House next March thoroughly discredited as party leaders, even by the members of their own party and by the Republican press of the Nation.

William N. Gableman, The Man

Democratic Candidate For Congress,
Sixth District

Born at Waverly, Pike county, Ohio, July 27, 1881.
Son of the late ex-Mayor Philip Gableman, of Waverly, Ohio.
Graduate of Waverly High School and of varied and valuable course of the University of Practical Experience.
Employed on the Cincinnati Post and Columbus Citizen, 1899-1903.
Resident of Portsmouth since February 1903 and in newspaper work, 1903-1907.
Travelling shoe salesman, 1907-1909.
City Auditor of Portsmouth two terms, 1910-1913.
Successful merchant since 1913.
Mayor of Portsmouth, elected by a majority of 595, in 1918.
Re-elected Mayor by 1920 majority in 1921.
Director of Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce.
Director of Portsmouth Kiwanis Club.
Trustee First Presbyterian Church of Portsmouth.
Thirty-second degree Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner. Member of K. of P., E. L. S., Eagles and Muskegon Union.
President of Portsmouth ball club, member of Ohio State League, 1910-1916.
President of Industrial baseball league this year.
He has sent more than a score of players into good paying positions in professional baseball.
Married Miss Gertrude Baird, native of Adams county, in 1908.
Has two daughters, Nellie and Esther.
One of six brothers—Charles D., former Probate Judge of Pike county and former postmaster of Waverly; George L., former secretary State Tax Commission and at present a State Municipal Examiner; J. Wesley, of the Portsmouth Times; Edwin W., Washington Correspondent, Cincinnati Enquirer; Walter H., merchant, Portsmouth, Ohio; Mother Mrs. Margaret Gableman and sister, Mrs. D. E. Gardner, Jr., wife of a successful construction engineer, both of Portsmouth.
Always a hustler, affable, accommodating, well informed and deservedly popular with all classes of people. Familiar with the problems of the laborer, farmer and business man and of the energetic and safe type to represent their interests in Congress.

He is neither responsive to the wishes of the rich agricultural counties of his District, nor to the welfare of its important industrial centers. Farmers and laborers alike will groan for the next several months under the burdens that have been imposed upon them by the reactionary element that has dominated the present Congress, while business continues to flounder in the maze of uncertainty from which it was promised permanent relief.

To the assertion that Mr. Kearns has been constant in his attendance to his official duties, the records of the last session supply a conclusive answer. These records show that he missed 134 roll-calls out of a total of 279 during the session, nearly fifty per cent. Conspicuous among the roll calls that he "ducked" were those relating to legislation dealing with labor. But he always was on hand when it came to the question of shifting tax burdens from the shoulders of the rich to those in moderate circumstances or of levying additional tariff duties upon the consuming public.

Isn't it about time that voters of the Sixth District decide to replace one of the outstanding nonentities of a "do nothing Congress" with a public official who can point to a record of constructive achievement covering a period of seven years?

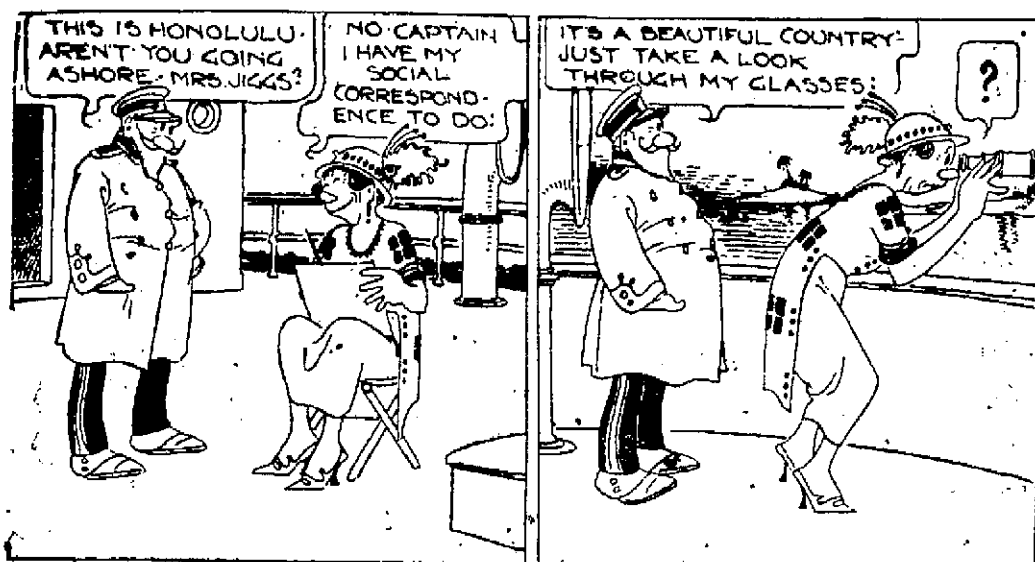

Compare the record of Mr. Kearns in Congress with that of his Democratic opponent, William N. Gableman, four years as City Auditor of Portsmouth, and three years as Mayor, re-elected last year to the latter office by the largest majority ever given a municipal candidate of any party in the city of Portsmouth, a city that normally is hostile to a Democrat.

Such a comparison can lead to but one resolve on the part of one who believes in representative government, and that is, to send a Representative to Congress from the Sixth district who will be responsive to the wishes of his constituents and who never has been known to betray a public trust, even to advance his political fortunes.

Control Of Congress At Stake In The Battle Of Ballots

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. (By the Associated Press.)—America's barometer of political and public opinion will be read at the polls, Tuesday November 7th, when another national House of Representatives, more than a third of the Senate membership, and 35 governors of states, together with state legislatures and local officials, will be chosen.

Nationally, the general election Tuesday is the first of the Harding administration, thus it is regarded by many as a test, bearing upon the next presidential campaign. The Republican "hus" go before the country largely on the record of President Harding and the present congress, an issue accepted by their democratic and other opponents.

Excepting in Maine, where the elections were held last September, the new Sixty-eighth Congress of 435 members will be chosen Tuesday from all states. Thirty-seven Senators in 34 states, also will be elected. The states electing governors are: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, New Mexico, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

The battle of ballots throughout the country largely is between the two dominant parties, Republican and Democratic. The election is marked by virtual massing of the Progressive, or Bull Moose party, Socialist, Prohibitionist, Farmer-Labor, Single Tax and other organizations, however, continue on the ballots here and there with some independent and other miscellaneous designations. Also marking the local campaigns, and often affecting the congressional contests, are the liquor, Ku Klux Klan and other questions.

Congressional candidates mostly are for the Sixty-eighth Congress which will not assemble until December, 1923, unless a special session next summer should be called. Of the 37 Senatorial seats at issue, 32 are for regular terms of six years beginning in the next Congress and five to fill vacancies by death and resignation. In addition to the 435 members of the next House to be chosen, there are three to fill vacancies in the coming winter session, two from Nebraska and one from Illinois.

Capture of control of the next House is the avowed objective of the democratic organizations or, failing this, material reduction of the present republican majority of 165. The House now has 290 Republicans, 130 Democrats and one Socialist, with eight seats vacant. A turnover of more than 80 seats is required for loss of the next House by the Republicans.

The Senate now has 59 Republicans, one Republican-Progressive and 36 Democrats, with 17 Republican and 15 Democratic seats in the next Congress at issue Tuesday. Democratic leaders have said that only a miracle would change the political complexion of the next Senate at this election.

Republican leaders expect to increase their Senate majority by a few members, and they also say they expect defeat of a number of sitting House members, swept in two years ago in the Harding victory. Democratic managers on the other hand are predicting some Senate as well as House success. Principal spots where Republicans hope to oust Democratic Senators and elect Republicans are: Ohio, President Harding's state, where Senator Pomerene, Democrat, is opposed by Representative Fess, Republican, former congressional committee chairman; Missouri, where Senator Reed, Democrat, is opposed by R. R. Brewster; Rhode Island where Senator Gerry, Democrat, is pitted against former Governor Beekman; Nebraska, where Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, and former foreign relations committee chairman, is fighting R. B. Howell, Republican national committee chairman; Wyoming, where Representative Mondell, Republican leader in the House, is running against Senator Kendrick, Democrat; Utah, where Senator King, Democrat, is seeking re-election against former Governor Rumbarger; and New Mexico, where Senator Jones, Democrat, is opposed by Stephen B. Davis, Jr. Democratic is opposed by former Governor Frazier.

There are 26 Senators who are candidates for continued service. Three, Senators McMillan, Republican, N. D., New, Republican, Indiana, and Culberson, Democrat, Texas were defeated for renomination in recent primaries, while three more whose terms expire March 3rd next, Senators Page, Republican, Vermont, Myers, Democrat, Montana, and Williams, Democrat, Mississippi, are retiring and did not stand for renomination.

There are two women candidates for the Senate from Minnesota and Wisconsin, and a score for the House, with many others for municipal offices. The present and first woman Senator, Mrs. W. H. Fulton, of Georgia, appointed to succeed the late Senator Watson, is not a candidate for election, while the lone woman House member, Miss Alice Robertson of Oklahoma, is fighting for re-election in a normally democratic district.

For the 435 House seats there are 1,010 candidates, including 370 present members—249 Republicans, 120 Democrats and the one Socialist. Fifty-seven sitting members—46 Republicans and 11 Democrats, did not seek re-election. Prominent among these are "Uncle Joe" Cannon, chairman of the ways and means committee.

Fifty-seven House candidates are sure of winning Tuesday, being without opposition and some holding nominations of both Republican and Democrat parties. Of these 43 are Democrats and 14 Republicans.

Breaks in several solid state delegations to Congress are predicted. While the solid Democratic contingents from southern states are expected to show no change, Democratic leaders are predicting breaks in the solid Republican ranks now coming from Ohio, Nebraska, Connecticut, Indiana, Kansas, Minnesota and possible Oregon West Virginia and Wisconsin.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Owing to a press of business I have been unable to see as many of the voters as I had planned when I received the nomination for County Commissioner on the democratic ticket last August. Owing to the fact the election is close by, I am taking this means to appeal for your support, believing I am well qualified to fill this office that has so much to do with appropriating and spending the tax-payers' money. I believe that the tax-payers should have some one in the commissioners' office who would take the same interest in their affairs as he has in his own. A minority representative on the board of county commissioners is good business—it means that the people will at least have one representative who will protest against throwing money away—who will see that for every dollar spent a dollar's worth of labor will be received—who will not allow the extravagant habit of taking joy rides out of the public treasury.

I am a farmer and merchant—I have conducted both my businesses with profit—I believe in frugality and have no use for wastefulness.

I have lived in Vernon township practically all my life. Ask those who know as to my character. I am a member of church, belong to the Rising Sun Lodge, F. & A. M., Wheelersburg; the Knights of Pythias, South Webster and am a member of Portsmouth Camp, Modern Woodmen of America. I promise, if elected, to give a good account of my stewardship, for I have always held that a public office is a public trust and I am asking your support because I have ever kept faith in public and private life in my obligations.

Remember, it is good business, sense and sound judgment to at least have a minority representation on a board that spends thousands upon thousands of your dollars yearly.

Assuring you that I will appreciate your vote and influence, and trusting I may have the pleasure of meeting you before election, I am

Respectfully,
J. J. SMITTLE

General Weather Conditions

WASHINGTON, May 22.—A disturbance of considerable intensity was over the western Gulf of Mexico to-night and another was in the vicinity of Bermuda while pressure was falling rapidly over eastern Canada and New England. Over practically all other regions high pressure prevailed to-day.

There have been showers within the last twenty-four hours in the southern states, portions of the middle states and the Rocky Mountain region, while fair weather prevailed in all other parts of the country.

The temperature was lower to-day in the south Atlantic and east Gulf states and in North Dakota and Nebraska. While there was a reaction to higher temperatures in the north Atlantic states, the northern plateau region and the north Pacific states. A disturbance over the eastern Gulf of Mexico will probably bring a heavy shower in the middle states to-day.

Eastland Theatre Next Week — Monday — Tuesday — Wednesday — Nov. 6, 7, 8 — Selznick Presents "Love Is An Awful Thing," A Big 7 Reel Comedy Special — The Funniest Screen Farce In Years.

Bearing the extremely interesting title, "Love Is An Awful Thing," there will come to the Eastland theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday one of the most hilarious and uproarious joyous farces seen on the screen in a long time. That accomplished comedian Owen Moore, last seen in "A Poor Simp" and "The Chicken in the Case," has the leading role. He is ably supported in the fun making by Douglas Carter, the long, lean, lanky gentleman of color who was so prominent in "A Poor Simp." Another comedian of real ability and international reputation as a funster who appears in the cast is Snitz Edwards.

Marguerite Daw and Kathryn Perry, the Polles beauties, play the girls and are comeline decorations and assets to any picture.

The story concerns the adventures of one Anthony Churchill who is endeavoring with little success to convince the father of the girl he wants to marry that he is suitable matrimonial material.

He is making excellent progress when out of the past springs a long forgotten love affair. The woman in the case, does not want to forget it and to end her under the love represents himself as a married man with six children. Then the fun begins.

THE SUPREME COURT

VOTERS OF OHIO—

Ohio is a great state. Its people are of every race and political persuasion. It deserves a great Supreme Court symbolizing its greatness and the cosmopolitan character of its citizens. The Court will be great only to the extent that the judges are able lawyers and men of character, loving justice and hating oppression.

JUDIE STANLEY MATTHEWS possesses the qualities of character, native ability, and acquired learning and experience that are essential to a Supreme Court Judge and if placed upon its bench will do his part to make the Supreme Court that sanctuary of liberty intended by the fathers.

Vote for Judge Stanley Matthews for Supreme Court Judge.

VOTE for W. V. LIST for County Auditor

SCIOTO COUNTY REPUBLICANS Present STRONG TICKET FOR YOUR ENDORSEMENT TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1922

FOR CLERK OF COURTS

WES CARSON

Believing that he is thoroughly qualified to fill the office of Clerk of Courts, Mr. Carson is appealing for support because of his fitness. He is a high school graduate, teacher in the public schools, has had thirteen years business experience and for the past three years has been connected with the Portsmouth College of Business. Mr. Carson has never before sought preferment at the hands of his party, although his Republicanism has never been questioned. He is, perhaps, one of Portsmouth's best known young men—is aggressive, self-reliant and those who have had any dealings with him have ever found him to be a thorough gentleman. He asks a thorough investigation as to his character and ability.

For County Treasurer

HENRY B. RUEL

Perhaps there is no man in the county who enjoys a wider acquaintance than Henry B. Ruel, who is seeking re-election as County Treasurer. Pleasant, affable and painstaking, Mr. Ruel has made a record of which he and his friends are justly proud. Mr. Ruel numbers his friends by the thousands and is a hale fellow, well met. He is regarded as one of the most thorough officials in the county, and has ever been courteous and obliging, but never has he disregarded his duty. Mr. Ruel's friends are predicting he will roll up a handsome majority. His election was assured from the day he was nominated.

FOR SHERIFF

HARRY DUNHAM

Possessing a personality that has won for him thousands of friends, Harry Dunham, candidate for the office of Sheriff of Scioto county, is asking his friends to line up solidly behind his candidacy. Mr. Dunham served as deputy sheriff of this county for more than two years and during that time demonstrated his absolute fitness for the place he filled. The experience he gained will stand him in good stead when elected as sheriff. Mr. Dunham is a favorite with all who know him—and has a strong hold upon all. Strong and fearless, he will make Scioto county one of its best sheriffs, and his friends are already predicting he will lead the county ticket.

FOR COUNTY SURVEYOR

CHARLES NOEL

That he stands high with the people of Scioto county, was shown at the recent primary when Charles Noel was triumphantly nominated as candidate for county Surveyor. Having served as deputy he has proven his worth when ever called upon and will continue to do so when elected. Mr. Noel's experience as deputy has fitted him to fill the office acceptably and well, and his friends are expecting him to win out handsomely at next Tuesday's election. Mr. Noel is the same thing to all people—honest to a fault, courteous, obliging and competent, and will give a splendid account of his stewardship.

FOR AUDITOR

ROY H. COBURN

Mr. Coburn, who enjoys a wide acquaintance, is seeking re-election as auditor of Scioto County. No one who knows Mr. Coburn questions his fitness for this important office. He has given a splendid account of his stewardship, and is regarded as one of the most competent officials that ever served the people of Scioto county. That his election is assured is admitted by everybody, and the only question seems to be the size of his majority.

For County Commissioner

JOHN B. BENNETT

Mr. Bennett is peculiarly well fitted for the office of County Commissioner. That he stands high, was shown when he was named to fill the unexpired term of the late Thomas W. Watkins. Mr. Bennett met every test while serving the people as county commissioner. His experience gained while in office, coupled with his experience as an expert road builder will make him an ideal commissioner. He served 1 year as an expert road builder in the employ of the C. and O. Northern Railway Co. He is a life long resident of Scioto county, and commands the confidence of all who know him.

For Representative

SAM M. JOHNSON

Mr. Sam M. Johnson, it seems, is of such a modest disposition that he has not had his picture taken for several years. But at the same time, Mr. Johnson is known to practically every voter in Scioto county. Having practiced law in this county for many years, having taken an interest in Portsmouth and Scioto County, he has come in contact with thousands of people who have always admired his courage and his willingness to do anything that had for its object the betterment of conditions. Mr. Johnson is by nature qualified to fill the office of representative. He stands for the Workman's Compensation Act, believing it to be one of the greatest humanitarian laws ever enacted. He will be found battling for that law at all times. No one but will admit his fearlessness in fighting for what he thinks is the best interests of the people of the county. He is a born debater, is eloquent and convincing and will make a representative of which every man, woman and child in the county may well be proud.

For Prosecuting Attorney

S. ANSELM SKELTON

That Attorney S. Anselm Skelton is peculiarly well qualified to fill the office of Prosecuting Attorney is shown by the fact that he has no opposition on the Democratic ticket. This, of course, insures his election, and is a compliment to his ability of which he is justly proud. Mr. Skelton has rendered valuable services to Portsmouth as City Solicitor and has builded a law practice that is a further testimonial to his ability.

FOR CORONER

VIRGIL E. FOWLER

Virgil E. Fowler, who is seeking the election of Coroner of Scioto County, is also one of these modest men who disdains the picture machine while he is subject, although he has dealt in picture machines for many years and his name is a household word. Mr. Fowler is absolutely conscientious, and scrupulously honest. The duties of a coroner are not altogether pleasant, but the people will find in Mr. Fowler a very courteous gentleman, and a man who will fill the office acceptably. He is a stalwart republican and has never sought preferment at the home of his party until prevailed upon to make the race for Coroner. His election is assured.

FOR COUNTY RECORDER

RUSSELL G. KETTER

Mr. Ketter, who is seeking the office of County Recorder, is beyond question thoroughly qualified to fill this important office. He has served as deputy in this office and his uniform courtesy has won for him the admiration of all who have had any business dealings in this office. He is rather quiet of demeanor, but thoroughly conscientious and according to those who know is regarded as one of the most efficient men in the court house. Mr. Ketter is seeking election on the record he has made and there seems to be no question but his majority will be a splendid tribute to his worth.

Ohio State In Fighting Mood For Chicago Game

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—Another snarling tiger, but not from Princeton, is priming to fly at Alonzo Stagg's bearcat team on November 11. The jungle beast now stalking for his game is the aroused Ohio State football eleven, which engages the Midway Maroons in the Ohio Stadium next Saturday. It will be the first appearance in Ohio for Chicago.

Critics who diagnosed the ease of the victory defeated Ohio State football team as "lack of fight" following the disappointing defeat by Minnesota last week, are watching the tough spot pointed out to undergo merciless mauling by Dr. J. W. Wiley, chief backer.

Camp followers who prophesied lineup changes after the Minnesota matinee, were startled by the thoroughness with which Dr. Wiley fulfilled their predictions within 20 hours after the dispirited Buckeye athletes had alighted from their Minneapolis special.

While student rooters chanted "Go Chicago" and exhorted their warriors to "Fight, Fight, Fight, Fight," Coach Wiley drove his charges through the fiercest tackling session of the season. Later, when the Buckeye mentor ordered scrimmage, "Ed" Kaplow, of Lorain, O., Johnny Wilson of Milan, O., and Harold Wasson of Columbus, heroes in utility roles against Minnesota, were at center, right tackle and right end. Frank Honaker, of Huntington, W. Va., a halfback last year, but converted into an end this fall, was transferred to fullback. L. E. Judy of Martin's Ferry, O., a sophomore, was sent in at quarterback. "Hoge" Workman, Isabel and Michaels, backfield regulars, were under blankets. Captain Pixley and Paul, injured in tackling practice, were also on the sidelines. Consistent use of Judy at quarterback is taken to mean that "Hoge" Workman will return to fullback, the position for which he was slated early in the season. Before the intelligibility of "Hoge" Workman necessitated a quick switch of "Hoge" to quarterback. Transfer of Honaker to fullback adds another driver to the backfield string. Grounding of Harry Steele, of East Springfield, O., and Tom Long of Columbus, giant-framed and powerfully muscled guards, may mean that Coach Wiley intends to rely on his strong men to act as shock absorbers for the famous line punches of the Thomas brothers, Prott and Zorn. Chicago's running backs, who pummeled Princeton's line for three touchdowns, further indication that Dr. Wiley feels the urge of bolstering the Buckeye forward wall for the anticipated onslaught of Chicago's backs is seen in the fact that Walter Esman, erstwhile Missouri Valley tackle, Clarence MacDonald, Ohio State captain and end in 1918; John Vays, former Yale center; Louis Huffman, Dean Trott and Andy Newcomb, recent All-Western Conference tackle, guard and center, now members of the Ohio State coaching staff, were called into scrimmage against the varsity.

In the frenzy of fresh excitement over the revival of fighting spirit in camp, Buckeye adherents are deferring judgment of their 1922 eleven until after the Chicago game. Advance sale of tickets indicates a stadium crowd for the first invasion of the Buckeye lair by a Maroon team. Close to 5000 will be Chicago rooters.

Navy Beats Penn State

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Penn State suffered its worst football defeat Friday in three years, going down before the powerful navy eleven, in marking up a 14 to nothing score, the midshipmen staged a comeback after their beating by the University of Pennsylvania last week and evened up the count following their defeat by the Nittany Lions just a year ago.

In the hot and sultry weather, both elevens got away to a ragged start but after that each side displayed a dash and, at times, a brilliance of play that furnished plenty of excitement for the largest and most distinguished crowd that ever attended a football game in Washington.

Governor Sproul and his official staff came down from Harrisburg while official Washington was largely represented.

Penn State twice carried a threat to the Navy in the first period, once with line charges and passes and again by recovering a fumbled ball but it lacked the punch to carry it over.

Carl Culley's ability to get distance for his kicks proved a potent factor in Navy's victory. It was after a gain of twenty yards in an exchange of punts in the second period that the Navy put into play the drive that carried the ball over for a touchdown.

Mixing forward passes with line thrusts, the Midshipmen advanced twenty yards and then McKee shot a long pass. Taylor grabbed the ball at the goal line and fell across for the first six points. Again in the third period Culley's punts set Penn State back to within the shadow of its goal where one of its backs fumbled after two navy forwards had tackled him. Culley scooped the ball up and ran the fifteen yards to a score.

Navy—14. PENN STATE—0. Parr, L. E. McCoy, Bolles, L. T. Logue, Carney, L. G. Hamilton, Matthews, C. Bentz, emp., Lentz, R. G. Bedenk, Walker, R. T. McMahon, Taylor, R. E. Hufferd, Conroy, C. B. Palm, McKee, L. H. Wilson, Culley, R. H. Kraitz, Barclay, F. H. Laferly.

ACE CLUB TO PRACTICE TONIGHT

The Ace Club, one of the city's speediest basketball fives, has at last secured a court upon which to hold its practice sessions. Arrangements having been completed which will enable the organization to use the P. H. S. gym on Saturday evening of each week. Practice which was discontinued several weeks ago due to the loss of a hall, will be resumed tonight.

Curley Lavender, captain of the quintet, has sent out a call for his lads to assemble in the gym at seven o'clock this evening at which time a stiff scrimmage program will commence.

The players will probably be slightly out of form this evening but under the leadership of Lavender it will be but a short time until they will be shooting baskets in mid-season form. Two new additions to the personnel of an already splendid lineup are announced. Don Oakes, center, previously affiliated with the Nomads, a team which is now but a memory and "Poke" Schuler, former star on Troop 17 are the new men.

Manager Billian plans to open the season with an out of town game early next month.

By WILFRID FLEISHER (United Press Staff Correspondent) PARIS (United Press).—French women are being told how to cultivate a shapely leg and ankle.

It is being told to them through the newspapers in the street cars, and in the Metro (subway).

It consists in wrapping a rubber band tightly about the lower leg and ankle in a certain prescribed way revealed only to the initiated.

This modern torture confines the wearer to the house, as the bandage is far too bulky to be worn under the thin stockings now in vogue.

Double Header

Friday evening several machine loads of young people from Petersburg, near Beaver, arrived to play basketball with Lucasville high school but found that Lucasville had no game booked with them. However, arrangements were being made for the two teams to play, when Wakefield called, it being Wakefield with whom the game was to have been played. The double header game which came off later at Wakefield resulted in the Wakefield girls losing their game to Petersburg and the Wakefield boys winning.

PRESENTING A FRONT

CITIES and counties are measured by the same yardstick as the individual and business.

The man, who dresses neatly and according to his station commands instant respect; the business that is properly housed gains the confidence of the buying public.

A millionaire in dirt and rags is deservedly an object of contempt; the store that is ramshackle on the outside and disorderly on the inside never grows into an emporium. So inexorable is this law that live merchants vie keenly in rivalry as to which shall have the most attractive front, and the best arrangement of the interior.

So Scioto county can never gain right esteem of her importance and possibilities unless she puts on the right front.

She most assuredly is not doing this with the present court house which is the most distinctive presentation of herself. That structure is not imposing, it isn't so much as neat. The first impression of the stranger on beholding it is incredulity and then contempt for a county which would domicile its officials and its invaluable records in such a disreputable and inadequate place; in fact such a dangerous place.

Let it be borne in mind that within the next five years there will be tens of thousands of travelers coming to Scioto county who, up to this time, have never heard of it. They will be drawn here by the game reserve, which in that period will become one of the wonders of the world.

You may say that is a fantastic dream or a wild exaggeration, but it isn't either. It is a fact that is forecast as assuredly as any coming event may be. Why, only this week a representative of the Saturday Evening Post was here to write the reserve up. That has the largest circulation of any weekly published. It goes into two million homes. It is recognized as the great American paper. Is it not to be supposed that the Post would center upon this project particular attention unless it regarded it as one of national importance.

To millions it will bring knowledge of Scioto county and the vast undertaking that is within her borders.

Even if she does ordinarily go in tatters Scioto county has just got to dress up to receive the visitors. She is building splendid roads upon which they may travel in comfort, she must next build a new court house.

UNTIL AFTER ELECTION

THE dismayed and disorganized republican gang of family flivver office holders are resorting to history and quoting figures that may or may not be true. We would have to have an affidavit on each and every item anyway, for we know what the gang would do in order to perpetuate themselves in power. But, speaking of history, we remember that when the democrats came into control of the county commissioners' office way back yonder, they found a whole room full of unpaid vouchers, vouchers for work and alleged work that the republican commissioners had left unpaid, and by which means they hoped to put the incoming board in the hole. Why, it took all the revenues of the first two years of democratic incumbency to pay the left-over vouchers of their republican predecessors.

And in this connection—The Times has been unable to present the usual daily grind of "road repairs" and "bridge repairs" vouchers the past day or two. Why? Oh, our county commissioners, probably under instructions from "Tax Shark" up at headquarters, have quit signing vouchers until after election. But, oh you taxpayers, just look out for the avalanche the day after November seventh. You'll then begin to think Scioto county roads have been turned into the golden streets of the New Jerusalem.

GIVE IT A THOUGHT

THE people of Scioto county have intelligence. So they must know from conditions that prevail at the court house that affairs there are not conducted with an eye single to the benefit of the county, but for the personal profit of the office-holders. Point out, if you can a solitary one of them, who has a relative that can make half a shake at filling a public job that hasn't had it given to him. The monthly payroll reads like it might be taken from the family bible. A public office is not a family, but an individual affair. When the people vote for a candidate they have neither purpose nor knowledge of voting for a whole tribe of paper-makers.

But if this thing keeps up the name of the family might just as well be printed on the ballot and the people say they want all of the kin to consume the taxes. That's about what it amounts to anyway.

Say what you will, it is mighty bad practice and a condition that ought to be intolerable. Never a doubt that it leads to waste and worse in time. The official who appoints a near relative because he "wants to keep all of a good thing in the family," isn't going to look for efficiency and the best results for the public, he is going to grow worse and more greedy and concern himself about more ways to increase the family fat.

FROM BAD TO WORSE

IN the old days when the gang ruled it used to be the law of succession. Some fellow was put in as a deputy at the court house and when the incumbent had severed his two allotted terms he was succeeded by the deputy.

Now, that, had as the practice was, is changed for the worse. The incumbents appoint their wives, their sons, their sisters, their cousins and their aunts, and lacking this, they appoint the relatives of some other pap sucker. Aye, there is one exception, the prosecuting attorney, he hands out sinecures to a confirmed criminal and notorious bootlegger to punish on other bootleggers. What for? To cut down competition in his own line?

"Shorty" Weidner pleads a part of the fabulous gasoline bill was for a tractor and an engine. If "Shorty" will tell us just how much it cost to haul the whole dam family to their extra jobs at the court house and the city schools, in the county flivver, we'll let in the tractor and the gas engine and then maintain he spent five times more than should have been.

County Auditor Coburn can find hours of time to dig into the misty fumes of the dim-distant past and turn up a ragged array of figures as to what Democratic commissioners spent, but he hasn't got a minute, no not so much as a whisper to explain that mysterious trip that he and a state examiner took to inquire into a bridge repair bill. Why and where that and that?

The oligarchy at the court house is not, per se, saying that the Times is saying some mean things about them. May be so, but only the truth and not half so bad as the oligarchy is saying about each other, which we hope isn't all the truth.

Notice Mr. and Mrs. Voter that the court house oligarchy isn't promising any amendment. It is defending its misdeeds by saying others will do worse if they get in, in other words its defense is the impossible. There can't be any worse than it is.

An oligarchy is a body of men who seize upon public office and rule in their individual might, always to the general profit of the oligarchy. For a living, breathing example of how it works, Friend and Fellow-Sufferer Taxpayer, turn to the roster of the court house and gaze upon a strictly family affair.

MR. DISTEL AND THE SHERIFF'S OFFICE

JOSEPH S. DISTEL, the democratic candidate for sheriff of Scioto county, has been chief of police of Portsmouth for almost three years. We have watched his course in that position from a critical standpoint, for we knew that any man occupying that office would have to make more than good, if he were to win the confidence of the people. You see we have been in the newspaper business here since 1894, and we have seen many chiefs of police come and go. We have seen many good men try, and fail. We have seen some fall before the temptations that beset the pathways of the officers of the law.

We are more than pleased to say to the readers of The Times this evening that we believe Mr. Distel has made a splendid record as chief of police. We feel that his administration has been free from graft, either big or little. We believe he has tried to do his duty, and that in the exercise of his duties he has also had due regard to the law himself. He has not infringed upon the sacred rights of the citizens, however humble may have been their station in life, and that cannot be said of a good many officials.

It has been a part of the duty of Chief Distel to help enforce the prohibition laws, and in this, despite the most discouraging circumstances, Mr. Distel has never hesitated when duty called. We speak of discouraging circumstances. Let us cite an instance or two. Take the matter of state and federal officers who occasionally make spectacular raids here. These officers, since Mr. Harding became president and Mr. Davis governor of Ohio, have not called upon the police of Portsmouth for any assistance. They have, in many instances, devoted more of their time, in an effort to "get something" on the police of Portsmouth than they have to catching bootleggers. They come in here and they utterly ignore the police force in the city. At least some of them were parties to the most outrageous farce in the history of the state, that is the attempt to trap the chief of police and some of his officers, followed by that travesty on justice, the cases in the court of the now utterly discredited Squire McManes, of New Boston.

But, despite all this, Chief Distel has gone his way, enforcing the law, and bringing offenders to justice. They talk about his not enforcing prohibition laws, yet there are today more than two hundred stills at the city jail, mute testimony of the activity of the city police. There are more than have been captured by the county officers aided, by the whole forces of state and federal bureaus combined. And so far as we have learned there are no special city officers in jail for bootlegging, nor are there any policemen fugitives from justice on the same count.

Should Mr. Distel be elected sheriff of Scioto county, he will have no friends to reward, no enemies to punish. He will have the laws of the state and nation to enforce and he will enforce them. And he will enforce them with due regard to law himself, according to law, and not with that reckless disregard of the rights of citizens that has characterized some alleged enforcement activities in this county and city.

If Mr. Distel is elected sheriff there will be no more drum head courts in the county jail, but each person arrested will be tried as the law contemplates, in the court of the magistrate from which the arresting warrant was issued.

If Mr. Distel is elected sheriff the county jail will not be the roosting place of each and every hobo that can be picked up, and kept there at the expense of the taxpayers of the county, and to the profit of the sheriff.

Chief Distel has made an earnest clean campaign for sheriff. He is willing to stand on his record as an officer of the law. He will give the same adequate service if he is elected next Tuesday. We are willing to vouch for that.

TIME FOR A CHANGE

THE tax spenders at the county court house keep right on. There is no let up, and the taxpayers will find when they go up to settle with Treasurer Ruel next December that their taxes are higher than ever. There will be a few more dollars to pay over that the family office holding oligarchy may add another deputy or two, buy another flivver at county expense, and joy ride from dawn to dusk on gasoline paid for out of the county treasury. Do the voters of Scioto county want to keep up the pace being set for them by the family groups now in control of the republican party? Do not the voters know that what is being done locally in the way of squandering the people's money is being done on a larger scale by the republican state administration at Columbus?

Next Tuesday is the time to turn the tax spenders out. Do your duty.

MAKE A CLEAN SWEEP

THE democratic county ticket is composed of men, who if elected, will devote their best efforts to giving the people a clean, honest, economical administration. They will weed out the numerous deputies that now clog the corridors and offices of the court house. They will reduce the salary list, keeping only enough deputies to carry on the people's business, and it is certain that fifty per cent of the present deputy force could be dispensed with, if the rest of the crew would work as other people work. The surveyor's office will be dusted thoroughly, and the army of salary grabbers sent out to work for a living instead of living off the taxpayers. There will not be a small army doing "road repairing" and "bridge repairing" on the eve of election at taxpayers' expense.

The time has come for a clean-up at the court house. If the taxpayers are alive to their own interests they will make a clean sweep next Tuesday.

BRAZEN EFFRONTERY

THE appeal of the republican county committee to workmen of Portsmouth to support their ticket is a bold and brazen piece of effrontery. Why should the workingman vote for the men who have slashed his pay envelopes until they are as thin as tissue paper? Why should the workingman vote for republican candidates who have stood for the crushing of every labor union? How many unions have been smashed in Portsmouth since Harding and Normalcy came into power, and in each case of a disrupted union has there not come a slash of from 25 to 50 per cent in pay?

Are not the men dictating the republican campaign here the leading apostles of low wages and huge profits?

Are the working people going to stand for all this? Are they going to the polls Tuesday next and vote against their own interests?

RECORD OF INDEPENDENCE

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

IN Atlee Pomerene Ohio has a spokesman at Washington who puts public interest above party considerations, who allows no partisan leader to do his thinking for him, but considers issues on their merits and lets his attitude be governed by the rights in the case. A survey of Pomerene's record in the senate shows him differing repeatedly on important issues with the leaders of his party. He never hesitates to support proposals from the other side of the chamber if in his mature judgment they are in harmony with the public interest.

Before his election to the senate in 1911 Mr. Pomerene had declared his belief in the principle of a non-political tariff board to study rates, help congress with its scientific findings and, as far as might be, to take the tariff out of the turmoil of party politics. It was a Republican senate to which the Ohio man had been elected, the minority of which was then opposed to the tariff board idea urged by President Taft. Pomerene promptly joined the Republican majority in support of the tariff board and helped put it through. Only one other Democratic senator took this independent stand. Pomerene saw in the board an agency of public service and would acknowledge no party obligation to oppose it.

The Ohio Senator's attitude toward the League of Nations is well remembered. He supported the league covenant as submitted by President Wilson. However, when he saw that ratification of the covenant in its original form was impossible he supported the "mild" reservations against the dictates of party regularity. He went further. Seeing that ratification could not be secured even on the basis of the mild reservations, he backed the more sweeping Lodge reservations, against the wishes of the president and of his own party leaders in the senate. Time has justified Pomerene's attitude and his independence of party. Had others been as wise as he the history of the succeeding era might have been far different.

President Wilson submitted the Columbian treaty and a Republican senate rejected it. President Harding submitted the same treaty; should Democratic senators support or oppose it? Party expedience argued in favor of opposition but consistency demanded its support. Most Democrats in the senate opposed the treaty. Pomerene voted for its ratification. He "stood by" Mr. Harding against the wishes of the senator's own party leaders.

President Wilson vetoed peace with Germany by joint resolution. The issue arose again immediately after Mr. Harding's assumption of the office; the joint resolution was again offered. Politics argued in favor of Democratic opposition. Mr. Pomerene was one of the very few senators on the minority side to support the resolution. He was satisfied that peace by resolution was preferable to a continuation of the costly, uncertain conditions that meant neither peace nor war.

The first big achievement of the Harding administration was the formulation of the Washington treaties, particularly the four-power pact. Republican senators had killed Mr. Wilson's peace program. Democratic senators, comprising more than one-third of the membership of the upper house, had the power to kill Mr. Harding's peace program. There was plenty of precedent and plenty of incentive for them to block the new treaties. Atlee Pomerene never hesitated. He believed the treaties looked toward general peace. Party regularity did not weigh with him against this conviction. Had it not been for the independence of Pomerene and Underwood these treaties, on which Republican orators in Ohio are now laying daily stress, could not have been ratified.

This is the measure of Mr. Pomerene, a senator who never lets considerations of party regularity or discipline blind him to his duty to state and nation. The quality of service he has given Ohio for nearly a dozen years makes him an outstanding figure in public life. It would be rankest political folly to retire him now.

You had better look out Mr. Voter and keep your thoughts to yourself, for the local republican gang, has called into conference, and is seeking aid from those eminent injunction getters, Blair & Blair and Henry T. Bannon. The first thing you know they will have an injunction against you taking a long breath, wagging your tongue or winking your eye, and the injunction secured against the strikers at the N. and W. will not be a circumstance to what these lawyers combined may try to get against you.

Well, dear old "Shorty" and his county flivver were in town last night and parked at republican headquarters. They were also among those present on Market street today. And gasoline keeps going up right along, while Standard Oil Company is increasing its dividends each quarter.

We are still worrying because County Auditor Roy Coburn acts like a clam about his chauffering a state inspector out to examine into "bridge repairs." Why not tell us Roy? Why not tell the taxpayers all you know about county affairs? And don't make any more "mistakes" like you did on poor old "Shorty's" flivver expenses.

Doc Koko's KOLUM

Trees

This charming poem was written by Joyce Kilmer, who made the supreme sacrifice in France. I think that I shall never see A poem lovely as a tree.

A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed Against the earth's sweet flowing breast.

A tree that looks at God all day And lifts his leafy arms to pray.

A tree that may in summer wear A nest of robins in her hair.

Upon whose bosom snow has lain; Who intimately lives with rain.

Poems are made by fools like me, But only God can make a tree.

A New Name for It

A teacher asked her class the meaning of the word "furlough." Jack was called upon and said—"It means a mile; it says so in a book."

The teacher asked for the book and it was brought forward. At last Jack came to a picture of a soldier sitting on a mule.

At the bottom of the picture was written, "Going home on his furlough."

Why Cry Now?

"Boo hoo, Boo hoo," said Johnnie, "a picture fell on father's toe." "Well, dear," said mother, "that's too bad, but you must not cry about it." "I did—didn't—I laughed."

That Helps Some

Pat paid seven dollars and a half for a pig last fall. He fed it all winter, spending twelve dollars for food, and sold it this spring for $20.00.

Well, Pat, said a neighbor, "you didn't make much, did you?" "No," said Pat, "but I had the use of the pig all winter."

At Home

A Park Avenue apartment house which goes in for flunkies recently blossomed out with a new doorman. When a gentleman called and asked to see Mrs. Brown, the new attendant, true to his calling, detained him with the customary, "But is Mrs. Brown expecting you?"

The caller withered him with a glance. "My good man," he said, "Mrs. Brown was expecting me before I was born. She is my mother."—New York Evening Post.

And the Bill

A retail dealer in leather goods, doing business in Baltimore, wrote to a firm in Southern Massachusetts ordering a cartload of merchandise. The firm wired him:

"Cannot ship your order until last consignment is paid for."

"Unable to wait so long," telegraphed the merchant. "Cancel the order."

Wise Jottings

It takes a has-been a long time to find it out.

Every time a man has his fortune told he gets rid of a small portion of it.

If a man's bluff does not work he is likely to find himself in an awkward position.

Time may be money, but the average man would rather give you a lot of his time than lead you a woman to the money.

While it is all right for a woman to help her husband, marry a girl starts early by helping her sweetheart to propose.

The Hint

The Minister—"The roof of our little church is leaking very badly, Mrs. McNevin."

The Wealthy Mrs. McNevin—"Ah, thank you for telling me, Mr. McNevin. I'll always bring my umbrella with me."

The Right and Wrong of It

"Why do you turn out for every road hog who comes along?" asked, rather crossly. "The right way is yours."

"Surely," said her husband calmly, "but my reason is suggested by an epitaph I saw the other day."

"Here lies the body of William Brown."

He died maintaining his right of way."

How was right, dead right, as he stood along."

But he's just as dead as if he'd been wrong."

Three Words A Day

USURPINGLY

Adverb; pronounced us-ur-ping-lee; accent on second syllable. Without just right or claim; wrongfully; illegally or occupying the place, power, or property of another. Example: In taking charge of (the meeting on property) he did it usurpingly.

EMBLEMATIC

Adjective; pronounced emblem-atic; accent on third syllable. Pertaining to or constituting an emblem, sign or symbol; suggestive through similarity of qualities or significance. As Whiteness is emblematic of purity.

CONVIVIAL

Adjective; pronounced kon-viv-ee-ah; accent on second syllable. Relating to, or of the nature of a feast or entertainment; social; jovial; gaily entertained at a feast or dinner. (L. G. Reynolds' Service, Richmond, Indiana)

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, November 4.—A big row is developing over dramatic criticism along the Rialto. The publisher of the Times is quoted as favoring straight-away dramatic comment instead of the signed review. The new shows are to be "covered" by reporters assigned from the city desk.

The producers charge that the so-called "vicious circle" is holding meetings in a Forty-Fourth street hotel and crystallizing comment in advance. They buttress their favorite playwrights and ignore the new-comer. Very few, however, believe this.

The truth is that while adverse criticism may prevent a show from gaining speed in the first week or so, nothing can stop a hit. For proof observe "Lightnin'" which was roasted all along the line and had the longest consecutive run on Broadway.

There is another play that was called a " flop." The producer jumped in to a $50,000 advertising campaign and the play is now in its 40th week. The worst of month comment is the greatest box office puller. The most malign influence in the theatre today is to be blamed on the producer.

He must get rid of the box office graft—the custom of selling best seats to gyring speculators. In justice to the producers the majority of them are making an honest effort in this direction, but they seem to be getting nowhere.

Then here is the charge that foreign plays are getting the break over home-grown products. This is scarcely credible in view of the fact that the only foreign plays now a success on Broadway are "Loyalties" and "Chauve Souris." Twenty others from the other side have gone to the warehouse this season.

This gives an idea of the complexity of New York's subway system. A passenger on a West Side subway at Seventy-Second street asked the guard how to get to Eighth street and Third avenue. The guard replied: "Change to a shuttle at Times Square. Take downtown express at Grand Central. Change to local at Astor place. Take cross-town Eighth street surface car to Third avenue—and there you are."

The most exclusive club in Gotham is said to be India House, in Hanover Square. It is an unpretentious house, where the real "inner circle" of Wall Street millionaires gather for luncheon. The servants are highly paid, and, of course, those who are selected are chosen chiefly for their ability to be close-mouthed. Many important deals are discussed there.

A hose display for women on Fifth Avenue is showing black silk stockings, and near the ankle of the right one a tiny watch is stitched into the silk. It has a phosphorescent dial and the price is $195.

Another innovation that is quite intriguing in a Madison Avenue shop for men, is a Norfolk coat of black with white silk piping and in the patch pocket em-poi-nt initials are inserted. An easy way of ending one's career would be to wear it over on Avenue A about eight o'clock in the evening.

The twin lions that crouch on the library terrace at Forty-Second street and Fifth Avenue were attacked the other afternoon. Two Belgian police dogs were trotting behind their master. When they saw the lions they made a rush for a stone coping and tried to snarl at the lions' throats. They pursued their way just a bit crestfallen.
